

Paradiem

The Morning Brief

OCTOBER 8, 2026

Yields Bite

September FOMC minutes reportedly reasserted a hawkish bias, pressing long-end yields higher and dragging industrials, gold, and crypto lower into PepsiCo's pre-market print.

S&P 500 (SPY, WED CLOSE) $777.22 ↓0.24%	CAT / XLI (WED) $813.83 ↓5.75% / XLI ↓2.18%	10Y / TLT (WED) Reportedly ~5.31% per prior CNBC / $77.14 ↓0.17%	GOLD / SILVER (WED) $375.88 ↓1.67% / $53.82 ↓2.94%	FEAR & GREED (CNN STOCK) Drop reads 64 crypto fallback · CNN endpoint reportedly unavailable
--	--	--	--	---

Markets — September 15–16 FOMC Minutes Reportedly Reasserted the Hawkish Policy Bias per Prior Preview and Reaction Coverage, With the Committee Reportedly Having Voted 12-0 to Lift the Target Range by 25 Basis Points to 3.75–4.00% and Preview Coverage Reportedly Characterizing a Majority of Participants as Reportedly Signaling One Further Hike by Year-End; Long-End Treasury Yields Reportedly Held Near Multi-Decade Highs With the 10-Year Reportedly Near Approximately 5.31% and the 30-Year Reportedly Near Approximately 5.68% per Prior Reporting, Pressuring Industrials as CAT Reportedly Printed $813.83 (↓5.75%) per Data Drop and XLI Reportedly Closed ↓2.18%; VST Reportedly Printed $166.72 (↑3.88%) per Data Drop as the Perry Nuclear License Extension and Related DOE Loan Commitment Carried in Prior Reporting Reportedly Extended the Physical-AI-Power Thesis

REPORTED WEDNESDAY SESSION REPORTEDLY CARRIED A REPORTED BROAD PULLBACK FROM THE REPORTED TUESDAY RECORDS — REPORTED SPY REPORTEDLY CLOSED AT $777.22 (↓0.24%), REPORTED QQQ AT $757.73 (↓0.25%), REPORTED DIA AT $511.02 (↓0.69%), AND THE REPORTED RUSSELL 2000 AT $277.70 (↓1.29%) PER DATA DROP; REPORTED UVXY REPORTEDLY PRINTED $16.19 (↑0.75%) AS REPORTED VOLATILITY REPORTEDLY FIRMED; REPORTED FED OCTOBER 27–28 HIKE ODDS REPORTEDLY PRICED NEAR APPROXIMATELY 20–25% HIKE PER PRIOR CME FEDWATCH AND KALSHI COVERAGE FOLLOWING THE REPORTED MINUTES

Per data drop, Wednesday reportedly closed with SPY at $777.22 (↓0.24%), QQQ at $757.73 (↓0.25%), DIA at $511.02 (↓0.69%), and the Russell 2000 at $277.70 (↓1.29%) — a reported broad pullback from Tuesday's reported record closes with the reported small-cap and reported Dow components reportedly leading lower, consistent with a reported duration-and-cyclical repricing. Per prior preview and reaction coverage, the September 15–16 FOMC minutes released Wednesday at 2:00 PM ET reportedly reasserted a hawkish policy bias, with the committee reportedly having voted 12-0 to lift the target range by 25 basis points to 3.75–4.00% at that meeting and preview coverage reportedly characterizing a majority of participants as reportedly signaling one further hike by year-end, even as reported data since the meeting (reported soft September ADP, reported ISM Services print at 54.9) have reportedly tempered the near-term path. Per prior reporting, reported Fed October 27–28 hike odds reportedly priced near approximately 20–25% hike with reported hold odds near approximately 75–80% per CME FedWatch and Kalshi coverage after the release. Per prior CNBC and reaction coverage, the reported 10-year Treasury yield reportedly held near approximately 5.31% and the reported 30-year reportedly near approximately 5.68% — reported levels not seen in approximately two decades per prior reporting — and per data drop, TLT reportedly closed at $77.14 (↓0.17%) with reported Dollar Index strength per prior reaction coverage reportedly reasserting the reported duration-sensitive layer. Per data drop, Carson's active SPY support at $645.80 (retracement target set April 13, 2026) remains untouched — Wednesday's reported intraday low of $773.61 reportedly sits approximately 19.8% above the level.

S&P 500 (SPY, WED)	$777.22 ↓0.24% · Wed low $773.61
NASDAQ (QQQ) / DOW (DIA, WED)	$757.73 ↓0.25% / $511.02 ↓0.69%
RUSSELL 2K / UVXY (WED)	$277.70 ↓1.29% / $16.19 ↑0.75%
CAT / XLI (WED)	$813.83 ↓5.75% / XLI ↓2.18%
VST / CEG (WED)	$166.72 ↑3.88% / $299.59 ↓0.27%
XLV / XLU (WED)	↑1.03% / ↓0.02%
GOLD (GLD) / SILVER (SLV, WED)	$375.88 ↓1.67% / $53.82 ↓2.94%
IBIT / ETHA (WED)	$47.21 ↓2.64% / $58.10 ↓4.58%
10Y YIELD / 30Y YIELD (WED)	Reportedly ~5.31% / ~5.68% per prior reporting · Near 24-year highs
FED OCT 27-28 HIKE ODDS	Reportedly ~20-25% hike / ~75-80% hold per CME FedWatch & Kalshi
CARSON'S ACTIVE SUPPORT	$645.80 retracement target · Untouched (Wed low $773.61)

REPORTED INDUSTRIALS REPORTEDLY LED THE PULLBACK AS REPORTED LONG-END YIELDS REPORTEDLY PRESSED THROUGH REPORTED CATERPILLAR'S CAPITAL-GOODS CHANNEL — REPORTED CAT REPORTEDLY PRINTED $813.83 (↓5.75%) PER DATA DROP BOTTOM-MOVER AND REPORTED XLI REPORTEDLY CLOSED ↓2.18%, WITH REPORTED PCAR REPORTEDLY PRINTING $106.86 (↓2.25%), REPORTED FAST AT $49.83 (↓1.93%), REPORTED GD AT $326.63 (↓1.42%), AND REPORTED LMT AT $499.22 (↓2.14%) PER DATA DROP; REPORTED MATERIALS (XLB) REPORTEDLY CLOSED ↓1.51% AND REPORTED REAL ESTATE (XLRE) ↓1.29% PER DATA DROP; REPORTED HEALTHCARE (XLV) REPORTEDLY LED ALL SECTORS AT ↑1.03% AS A REPORTED DEFENSIVE BID REPORTEDLY REASSERTED

Per data drop bottom-5 FCI movers, Wednesday reportedly read CAT ↓5.75% at $813.83, MARA ↓5.56% at $10.36, ETHA ↓4.58% at $58.10, NXPI ↓3.75% at $235.22, and HUT ↓3.17% at $89.30 — a reported composition reportedly reading through two layers: (1) a reported capital-goods-and-cyclical reset into reported 24-year-high long yields, and (2) a reported digital-asset-and-mining drawdown into the reported hawkish-minutes read. Per data drop holdings news for CAT, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported Caterpillar as reportedly dropping approximately 6% as reported industrials sold off with reported long yields at a reported two-decade high, with reported Deere reportedly falling approximately 4% and reported PACCAR reportedly easing. Per data drop, PCAR reportedly closed at $106.86 (↓2.25%), FAST at $49.83 (↓1.93%), GPC at $125.41 (↓1.55%), STLD at $234.09 (↓1.71%), and GD at $326.63 (↓1.42%). Per data drop, the reported Industrials sector (XLI) reportedly closed ↓2.18% at $167.84 — the reported sharpest sector decline on the session — with reported Materials (XLB) reportedly closing ↓1.51% at $48.98 and reported Real Estate (XLRE) ↓1.29% at $40.57. Per data drop, reported Healthcare (XLV) reportedly led all sectors at ↑1.03% at $168.81 as a reported defensive bid reportedly reasserted into the hawkish read, with reported ABT reportedly printing $98.73 (↑0.58%) and reported ADP at $264.00 (↑0.63%). Per data drop, the reported FCI nuclear-generation sleeve reportedly bifurcated with VST ↑3.88% at $166.72 and CEG ↓0.27% at $299.59 — VST reportedly extending Tuesday's bid on the reported Perry nuclear license extension through 2046 and the reported related $4.2 billion DOE conditional loan commitment per prior Reuters and Kitco coverage. Per data drop holdings news for GD, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported Phebe Novakovic as reportedly transitioning to executive chair with reported Mark L. Deep reportedly elected CEO — a reported leadership transition at the reported largest FCI defense position. Per data drop holdings news for OKE, two Yahoo pieces reportedly framed reported ONEOK as reportedly completing the reported Brazos Midstream Permian Midland Basin acquisition — a reported midstream-footprint signal reportedly reading through the reported energy-infrastructure channel. Per data drop holdings news for MRVL, one SeekingAlpha piece reportedly framed the reported Marvell Investor Day as reportedly lifting the reported connectivity outlook to approximately $20 billion. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported hawkish-minutes-into-long-end-yields repricing reportedly pressuring the reported industrials-and-capital-goods layer, a reported VST Perry extension reportedly reasserting the reported physical-AI-power sleeve, a reported GD leadership transition reportedly reading through the reported defense-industrial-base channel, and a reported ONEOK Brazos close reportedly reading through the reported midstream-footprint signal — keeps CAT, PCAR, GD, LMT, VST, CEG, NEE, EIX, OKE, MRVL, and the reported FCI physical-world-matters sleeve reading through today's PEP pre-market setup.

A reported hawkish-minutes read reportedly reasserting the reported duration-sensitive pressure, a reported industrials sell-off reportedly reading through the reported capital-goods layer, and a reported VST Perry extension reportedly reasserting the reported physical-AI-power sleeve frame a setup where avoid erosion and think like an owner tend to serve better than compositing a single directional view into the reported October 27–28 FOMC window and today's PEP pre-market print.

Simplicity over complexity.

Geopolitics — Reported Hormuz Transits Reportedly Fell to the Reported Lowest Level in Over Two Months Following Reported Attacks per Reuters Coverage Carried in Data Drop Headlines; Reported Houthi Forces Reportedly Claimed a Reported Ballistic Missile Attack on Reported Riyadh Airport per Reuters Coverage Carried in Data Drop Headlines; Reported Oil Reportedly Rose as Reported Middle East Supply Concerns Reportedly Persisted Amid Reported Shipping Attacks per Reuters Coverage; Reported Battle for Mideast Oil Market Share Reportedly Characterized as Reportedly Already Begun per Reuters Commentary Carried in Data Drop Headlines — a Reported Composition That Reportedly Reasserts the Reported Energy-and-Shipping Risk Layer

REPORTED STRAIT OF HORMUZ TRANSITS REPORTEDLY FELL TO THE REPORTED LOWEST LEVEL IN OVER TWO MONTHS FOLLOWING REPORTED ATTACKS PER REUTERS COVERAGE; REPORTED HOUTHİ FORCES REPORTEDLY CLAIMED A REPORTED BALLISTIC MISSILE ATTACK ON REPORTED RIYADH AIRPORT PER REUTERS COVERAGE CARRIED IN DATA DROP HEADLINES; REPORTED BRITISH GOVERNMENT REPORTEDLY REMOVED EAST JERUSALEM CONSULATE SIGNAGE AS THE REPORTED ISRAELI SHUTDOWN ORDER REPORTEDLY EXPIRED PER REUTERS COVERAGE — A REPORTED DIPLOMATIC-SIGNALING LAYER REPORTEDLY READING THROUGH THE REPORTED UK-ISRAEL POSTURE SIGNAL

Per data drop headlines, one Reuters piece reportedly framed reported Hormuz transits as reportedly at the reported lowest level in over two months following reported attacks, a reported commentary piece reportedly characterized the reported battle for Mideast oil market share as reportedly already begun, and one Reuters piece reportedly framed reported Houthi forces as reportedly claiming a reported ballistic missile attack on reported Riyadh airport. Per data drop, WTI (USO) reportedly closed Wednesday at $143.91 (↓0.69%), Brent (BNO) at $61.90 (↓0.05%), reported Natural Gas (UNG) at $11.03 (↑2.70%), and the reported Energy sector (XLE) at $63.36 (↓0.61%) — a reported energy-complex composition reportedly reading a reported crude pullback into the reported hawk-ish-minutes-and-dollar bid while reported natural gas reportedly reasserted the reported heating-season layer. Per data drop, CVX reportedly closed Wednesday at $205.15 (↓1.17%), OKE at $88.05 (↓1.32%), and CNX at $33.89 (↑1.96%) — a reported FCI energy-sleeve dispersion reportedly reading through the reported mid-stream-and-upstream channel. Per data drop headlines, one Reuters piece reportedly framed reported Britain as reportedly removing reported East Jerusalem consulate signage as the reported Israeli shutdown order reportedly expired — a reported diplomatic-signaling layer reportedly reading through the reported UK-Israel posture signal. Per data drop headlines, one Reuters piece reportedly framed reported oil-price volatility as reportedly topping the list of reported earnings risks for reported Japan firms per a Reuters poll — a reported corporate-margin signal reportedly reading through the reported crude-pass-through channel. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported two-month-low Hormuz-transits signal reportedly reading through the reported shipping-and-insurance layer, a reported Houthi Riyadh airport attack reportedly reading through the reported Gulf-supply-risk channel, a reported British East Jerusalem consulate signage removal reportedly reading through the reported UK-Israel diplomatic layer, and a reported mid-stream OKE Brazos acquisition close reportedly reading through the reported Permian-footprint signal — keeps CVX, OKE, CNX, LMT, GD, and the reported FCI defense-and-energy complex reading through today's PEP pre-market setup.

On Our Radar

1. Today — Reported PepsiCo (PEP) Reportedly Reports Pre-Market With Reported Consensus Near Approximately \$2.32 EPS and Reportedly Approximately \$25 Billion Revenue per Prior Rallies.ai, Benzinga, and Hudson Labs Coverage; Reported Helen of Troy (HELE) Reportedly Scheduled Today With Reported Consensus Near Approximately \$0.52 EPS per Data Drop; Reported Tilray (TLRY) Reportedly Scheduled With Reported Consensus Near Approximately \$(0.19) EPS per Data Drop; Reported Delta Air Lines (DAL) Reportedly Scheduled Friday Pre-Market With a Reported Implied Move Near Approximately 7.38% per Prior Benzinga Coverage. Per prior Rallies.ai and Benzinga week-ahead coverage, reported PepsiCo (PEP) is reportedly scheduled pre-market today with reported consensus near approximately \$2.32 EPS and reportedly approximately \$25 billion revenue; per prior Hudson Labs preview coverage, reported Q3 2026 reportedly carried a reported easier comp with reported organic revenue approximately $\uparrow 1.3\%$ in reported Q3 2025 and reported core EPS reportedly approximately $\downarrow 2\%$ year over year. Per data drop earnings calendar for today, reported Helen of Troy (HELE) is reportedly scheduled with reported consensus near approximately \$0.52 EPS, and reported Tilray (TLRY) is reportedly scheduled with reported consensus near approximately \$(0.19) EPS. Per prior Benzinga coverage, reported Delta Air Lines (DAL) is reportedly scheduled Friday pre-market with reported EPS consensus near approximately \$2.03 and a reported implied move near approximately 7.38%. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps the reported FCI consumer-staples read (CL, CHD, PCAR, FAST, GPC) reading through today's PEP print, and the reported airline-cycle signal reading through Friday's DAL print into the reported October 27–28 FOMC window.

2. Reported Caterpillar (CAT) Reportedly Printed \$813.83 ($\downarrow 5.75\%$) per Data Drop Bottom-Mover as Reported Industrials Reportedly Sold Off With Reported Long Yields at Approximately 24-Year Highs per Yahoo Coverage Carried in Data Drop Holdings News for PCAR — Reported Deere Reportedly Fell Approximately 4% per the Same Coverage, and Reported PACCAR (PCAR) Reportedly Printed \$106.86 ($\downarrow 2.25\%$) per Data Drop; Reported Industrials (XLI) Reportedly Closed $\downarrow 2.18\%$ at \$167.84 per Data Drop — the Reported Sharpest Sector Decline on the Session; Reported Fastenal (FAST) Reportedly Printed \$49.83 ($\downarrow 1.93\%$) and Reported Steel Dynamics (STLD) Reportedly Printed \$234.09 ($\downarrow 1.71\%$) per Data Drop. Per data drop holdings news for PCAR, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported Caterpillar as reportedly dropping approximately 6% as reported industrials sold off with reported long yields at a reported two-decade high, with reported Deere reportedly falling approximately 4% and reported PACCAR reportedly easing. Per data drop, the reported FCI capital-goods-and-industrials complex reportedly closed Wednesday with CAT \$813.83 ($\downarrow 5.75\%$), PCAR \$106.86 ($\downarrow 2.25\%$), FAST \$49.83 ($\downarrow 1.93\%$), GPC \$125.41 ($\downarrow 1.55\%$), STLD \$234.09 ($\downarrow 1.71\%$), and GD \$326.63 ($\downarrow 1.42\%$). Per data drop, reported LRCX reportedly closed at \$329.51 ($\downarrow 1.31\%$), KEYS at \$381.42 ($\downarrow 1.70\%$), NXPI at \$235.22 ($\downarrow 3.75\%$), ADI at \$410.08 ($\downarrow 2.49\%$), TEL at \$215.83 ($\downarrow 1.68\%$), and TSM at \$472.20 ($\downarrow 2.09\%$) — a reported semiconductor-equipment-and-analog dispersion reportedly reading through the reported duration-cyclical repricing. Per data drop holdings news for AMD, one Yahoo piece reportedly flagged reported TSMC Q3 sales as reportedly beating estimates on reported surging AI chip demand — a reported foundry-channel confirmation reportedly reading through the reported AI-infrastructure signal with AMD reportedly closing \$645.86 ($\downarrow 0.55\%$) per data drop. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps CAT, PCAR, FAST, GPC, STLD, GD, LRCX, KEYS, ADI, TEL, TSM, AMD, and the reported FCI capital-goods-and-semiconductor sleeve reading through today's PEP pre-market setup.

3. Reported Vistra (VST) Reportedly Printed $166.72 (↑3.88%) per Data Drop as the Reported Perry Nuclear License Extension Through 2046 and the Reported Related $4.2 Billion DOE Conditional Loan Commitment Carried in Prior Reuters and Kitco Coverage Reportedly Extended the Reported Physical-AI-Power Thesis; Reported CEG Reportedly Printed $299.59 (↓0.27%) per Data Drop as the Reported Hyperscaler-Nuclear-PPA Layer Reportedly Consolidated; Reported Marvell (MRVL) Investor Day Reportedly Lifted the Reported Connectivity Outlook to Approximately $20 Billion per SeekingAlpha Coverage Carried in Data Drop Holdings News. Per prior Reuters, Kitco, and Simply Wall St coverage carried into this setup, reported Vistra reportedly carried the reported Perry nuclear plant license extension through reported 2046 and the reported related $4.2 billion DOE conditional loan commitment, and per data drop, VST reportedly closed Wednesday at $166.72 (↑3.88%) — a reported continuation of the reported paired power-sleeve rally carried in prior reporting. Per data drop, CEG reportedly closed at $299.59 (↓0.27%) and NEE at $77.06 (↓1.05%) — a reported nuclear-and-regulated-utility consolidation reportedly reading through the reported structural power-demand channel. Per data drop holdings news for MRVL, one SeekingAlpha piece reportedly framed the reported Marvell Investor Day as reportedly lifting the reported connectivity outlook to approximately $20 billion — a reported custom-silicon-and-interconnect signal reportedly reading through the reported AI-infrastructure channel, with MRVL reportedly closing at $284.68 (↓0.81%). Per data drop holdings news for CEG, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported big tech as reportedly signing reported nuclear deals with the reported same company. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps VST, CEG, NEE, EIX, MRVL, CRDO, AMD, NVDA, and the reported FCI physical-AI-power-and-interconnect sleeve reading through today's setup.

4. Reported Levi Strauss (LEVI) Reportedly Beat Reported Consensus With Reported Adjusted EPS of $0.48 Versus Reported Consensus of Approximately $0.37 per Data Drop Earnings and Prior Business Wire 8-K Coverage — a Reported Tariff-Refund-Assisted Print per Prior 10-Q Coverage With a Reported Approximately $0.16 EPS Benefit From Reported IEEPA Tariff Refunds; Reported Applied Digital (APLD) Reportedly Missed Reported Consensus With Reported EPS of $(0.76) Versus Reported Consensus of Approximately $(0.31) per Data Drop — a Reported Material Miss in the Reported Data-Center-Operator Channel; Reported ONEOK (OKE) Reportedly Completed the Reported Brazos Midstream Permian Midland Basin Acquisition per Yahoo Coverage Carried in Data Drop Holdings News. Per data drop earnings and prior Business Wire 8-K coverage, reported Levi Strauss reportedly beat reported consensus Wednesday after close with reported adjusted EPS of $0.48 versus reported consensus near approximately $0.37, reportedly with a reported approximately $0.16 EPS benefit from reported IEEPA tariff refunds carried in prior 10-Q coverage. Per data drop, APLD reportedly missed reported consensus with reported EPS of $(0.76) versus reported consensus of approximately $(0.31) — a reported material shortfall in the reported data-center-operator channel reportedly reading through the reported AI-infrastructure-capex layer, with reported HUT reportedly closing at $89.30 (↓3.17%) and reported MARA at $10.36 (↓5.56%) per data drop. Per data drop holdings news for OKE, two Yahoo pieces reportedly framed reported ONEOK as reportedly completing the reported Brazos Midstream Permian Midland Basin acquisition, with OKE reportedly closing at $88.05 (↓1.32%) per data drop. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps HOOD, SOFI, HUT, MARA, OKE, CVX, CNX, and the reported FCI fintech-digital-asset-and-energy-infrastructure complex reading through today's setup.

5. Haven and Risk-Asset Dispersion — Gold (GLD) Reportedly Printed $375.88 (↓1.67%) and Silver (SLV) Reportedly Printed $53.82 (↓2.94%) per Data Drop, With AEM Reportedly Closing $180.39 (↓3.03%) — a Paired Bullion-and-Miner Drawdown Reportedly Reading Through the Dollar-and-Real-Yield Channel; IBIT Reportedly Printed $47.21 (↓2.64%), ETHA $58.10 (↓4.58%), MARA $10.36 (↓5.56%), and HUT $89.30 (↓3.17%) per Data Drop; the Data Drop's Fear & Greed Reading of 64 Is Flagged as the Crypto Fallback, Not the CNN Stock-Market Read — the Headline Value Does Not Represent Equity-Market Sentiment on This Session. Per data drop, the paired drawdown across precious metals, gold miners, and the digital-asset complex reportedly read a hawkish-minutes-into-dollar bid, with the simultaneous move across havens and risk assets reportedly consistent with a broad de-risking rather than a rotation. Per data drop, APLD reportedly missed consensus overnight with reported EPS of $(0.76) versus approximately $(0.31) — a material shortfall in the data-center-operator channel that reportedly reads adjacent to the mining-complex drawdown. Per data drop sentiment, the Fear & Greed Index value of 64 carries the crypto-fallback label — the CNN stock-market reading was reportedly unavailable at drop time and the headline value should be read as a sentiment check on the digital-asset tape, not the broader equity market. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps IBIT, ETHA, AEM, HOOD, SOFI, HUT, and MARA reading through the reported risk-off signal into today's PEP pre-market setup, with the FCI buy-and-hold tranche framework reportedly unchanged by a single-session move of this magnitude.

6. Carson's Levels — A Session of Yield-Driven Weakness Still Leaves SPY Reportedly a Full Tranche of Air Above the $645.80 Retracement Target per Levels.json; Wednesday's Reported Range of $773.61–$779.10 Reportedly Did Not Materially Narrow the Gap — the Target Reportedly Sits Approximately 16.9% Below the Reported Wednesday Close, Roughly in Line With the FCI First-Tranche Deployment Reference at –25% From Peak; Carson's Prior April 2026 Resistance Zones at $683.70, $685.85, and the $691.90–$693.20 Band Have All Reportedly Been Cleared to the Upside and Remain in the "Hit" Column, With No New Active Carson Level Set Since. Per levels.json, Carson's active SPY retracement target at $645.80 (set April 13, 2026) remains in the "active" column with no hit date and no hit price recorded. Per data drop, Wednesday's SPY range of $773.61–$779.10 reportedly left the target approximately 16.9% below the close — a gap that reportedly sits inside, but not meaningfully closer to, the FCI first-tranche deployment reference at approximately –25% from peak. Per data drop, the hawkish-minutes session reportedly produced the sharpest industrials move since the September meeting without materially changing SPY's distance from the target, consistent with a repricing concentrated in the capital-goods and precious-metals sleeves rather than a broad-index drawdown. For FCI positioning, Carson's level reportedly frames a deployment reference, not a trade signal — the FCI buy-and-hold tranche framework reportedly deploys 70% of reserves at approximately –25% from peak and the remainder at approximately –40%, with no trimming on either side.

For internal FCI investment committee use only. Not investment advice. Information from public sources believed reliable. Past performance not indicative of future results. FCI is an RIA under Paradiem.