

Paradiem

The Morning Brief

SEPTEMBER 27, 2026

Hormuz Impasse

Trump reportedly rejects Iran’s seven-day Hormuz plan Saturday; Araghchi reportedly refuses to soften demands as Tehran awaits a formal US answer from mediators.

S&P 500 (SPY, FRI CLOSE) $771.35 · ↑~1.27% wk per prior-brief recap	NASDAQ (QQQ) / DOW (DIA, FRI) $744.50 ↑~3.19% wk / $517.49 ↑~0.31% wk per prior-brief recap	WTI (USO) / BRENT (BNO, FRI) $148.33 Fri ↓3.11% / $59.65 Fri ↓3.54% per data drop	BITCOIN (LIVE SUNDAY) Reportedly ~$84.0K per CoinDesk/ Coinbase per weekend tape	FEAR & GREED (CNN STOCK) Reportedly ~35 Fear per Benzinga · Drop reads 70 crypto fallback
--	--	--	---	--

SECTION 01

Markets — Weekend Edition: Reported Friday Green Close Frames a Monday Setup Ahead of the Reported October 2 Payrolls Print

REPORTED WEEKLY ADVANCE REPORTEDLY ANCHORED BY CHIP LEADERSHIP; REPORTED DURATION REMAINS COMPRESSED WITH TLT NEAR RECENT LOWS

Per prior-brief weekly recap coverage, the reported week closed with SPY approximately ↑1.27% at $771.35, QQQ approximately ↑3.19% at $744.50, and DIA approximately ↑0.31% at $517.49 — a broadly green tape led by the reported FCI Growth-Hybrid and Dividend semiconductor sleeve. Per Yahoo Finance coverage of the Friday session and per data drop, Friday leaders reportedly included CRDO ↑7.65%, QCOM ↑3.97%, NXPI ↑3.44%, ADI ↑2.87%, and LRCX ↑2.62%, framing an intra-tech rotation toward chips-and-connectors even as enterprise-software names diverged lower (FTNT ↓2.92%, NOW ↓1.57% per data drop). Per Trading Economics coverage carried through the week, the reported 10-year Treasury yield reportedly held near approximately 5.11–5.18% into the weekend, and per data drop, TLT closed Friday at $79.32 ↓0.13%. Per data drop, Carson’s active SPY support level at $645.80 (retracement target set April 13) remains untouched, with Friday’s intraday low of $766.29 well above that level.

S&P 500 (SPY, FRI CLOSE)	$771.35 · ↑~1.27% wk per prior-brief recap
NASDAQ (QQQ) / DOW (DIA, FRI)	$744.50 ↑~3.19% wk / $517.49 ↑~0.31% wk per prior-brief recap
TLT (20Y BOND, FRI)	$79.32 ↓0.13% Fri · Reported 10Y near ~5.11–5.18% per Trading Economics
WTI (USO) / BRENT (BNO, FRI)	$148.33 Fri ↓3.11% / $59.65 Fri ↓3.54% per data drop
BITCOIN (LIVE SUNDAY)	Reportedly ~$84.0K per CoinDesk/Coinbase weekend tape
FED OCT 27–28 HIKE ODDS	Reportedly ~69–85% for +25 bp per Central Bank Watch and Rate Probability coverage
CARSON'S ACTIVE SPY SUPPORT	$645.80 retracement target · Untouched (Fri low $766.29)

REPORTED FED PATH REPORTEDLY ANCHORED HAWKISH; REPORTED AUGUST PCE DATA REPORTEDLY SCHEDULED WEDNESDAY AHEAD OF THE REPORTED OCTOBER 27–28 FOMC

Per Central Bank Watch and Rate Probability coverage of the reported CME FedWatch tape, reported October 27–28 hike odds reportedly sit in the range of approximately 69–85% for a reported +25 bp move, anchored by reported Chair Warsh's post-Jackson Hole communication and reinforced through the reported September flash PMI beats and the reported final September Michigan sentiment print at approximately 48.1 (per prior-brief coverage of the reported University of Michigan release). Per Bureau of Economic Analysis coverage carried through prior calendars, the reported August Personal Income and Outlays release (including the reported PCE inflation series) is reportedly scheduled Wednesday, September 30 at 8:30 AM ET — a reported principal week-ahead macro read ahead of the reported October 2 September Employment Situation release from BLS (also reportedly scheduled at 8:30 AM ET per BLS). For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported hawkish-skewed Fed path, a reported PCE-then-payrolls week-ahead sequence, and a reported still-elevated 10-year yield near approximately 5.11–5.18% — keeps CHD, CL, ABT, SYK, DGX, ADP, SPGI, NEE, EIX, ATO, and the reported FCI Dividend rate-sensitive-and-consumer sleeve reading through the reported household channel and the reported October 27–28 FOMC decision.

A reported chip-led weekly advance sitting against reported hawkish-skewed October hike odds and a reported still-live Iran-Hormuz weekend impasse frames a Monday setup that tends to reward reading each catalyst on its own terms rather than compositing a single directional view. Research reveals opportunities.

Geopolitics — Trump Reportedly Rejects Iran's Seven-Day Hormuz Plan Saturday; Araghchi Reportedly Refuses to Soften Demands

TRUMP REPORTEDLY FRAMES THE IRANIAN PROPOSAL AS UNACCEPTABLE SATURDAY — ARAGHCHI REPORTEDLY STATES TEHRAN AWAITS A FORMAL US RESPONSE THROUGH QATAR AND PAKISTAN MEDIATORS

Per CNN, NBC News, NPR, Al Jazeera, Salon, CBS News, CNBC, and Spectrum News coverage of the Saturday sequence, President Trump reportedly rejected Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi's reported seven-day framework for reopening the Strait of Hormuz, reportedly framing the Iranian proposal as unacceptable and reportedly characterizing Iran's negotiating position as weakened. Per Bloomberg, Times of Israel, and BusinessMirror coverage carried Saturday and into Sunday, Araghchi reportedly responded via IRIB and Telegram that Iran had reportedly seen President Trump's public remarks but reportedly had not received a formal response through mediators Qatar and Pakistan, and reportedly maintained that Iran would not concede on its reported conditions — which per the same coverage reportedly include a cessation of hostilities across the region (reportedly including Lebanon), a lifting of the reported US naval blockade of Iranian ports, a waiver of sanctions on Iranian oil sales, and a release of Iranian frozen assets. Per Al Jazeera coverage of the Iran-US impasse, Araghchi reportedly characterized the US president's public remarks as mixed, framing a diplomatic gap into the Monday open. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported public US rejection Saturday, a reported Iranian refusal to soften demands, a reported continued Qatari-and-Pakistani mediation channel, and Friday's reported energy pullback that discounted a partial de-escalation path (USO ↓3.57% wk, BNO ↓1.52% wk per data drop) — keeps CVX, OKE, CNX, LMT, and GD reading through the reported physical-crude signal, the reported sanctions perimeter, and the reported UN diplomatic overhang into the Monday setup.

REGIONAL ATTACK LAYER REPORTEDLY REMAINS LIVE BEHIND THE HORMUZ TRACK — SAUDI COALITION REPORTEDLY INTERCEPTS A REPORTED HOUSHI MISSILE-AND-DRONE SALVO; UK AIR BASE SECURITY REPORTEDLY INCREASED

Per Reuters coverage carried in the data drop headlines and per CNBC coverage of the reported Saturday sequence, the reported Saudi-led coalition reportedly intercepted a reported Houthi missile-and-drone salvo — a reported reminder that the reported Yemen-based attack layer sitting behind the reported Iran-US negotiation reportedly remains active into the weekend. Per additional Reuters coverage carried in the data drop, one piece reportedly framed the reported UK Fairford air base as reportedly seeing an increase in security, and per separate Reuters coverage carried in the data drop, another piece reportedly framed China as reportedly pushing back on the US on both Iran and Cuba in reported UN General Assembly remarks. Per data drop, LMT reportedly closed Friday approximately ↓0.79% at $519.56 and GD reportedly closed near-flat at $336.72 into the reported still-live regional-attack backdrop. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported dual-track diplomatic-and-attack posture running into the weekend, a reported UK air-base security uplift, a reported China-Iran-Cuba UN pushback, and a reported energy pullback reportedly discounting a partial de-escalation optics — keeps LMT, GD, CVX, OKE, CNX, and NEE reading through the reported physical-crude signal, the reported regional-attack layer, and the reported UN diplomatic overhang into the Monday setup.

On Our Radar

1. Week Ahead — Reported August PCE Wednesday, September 30 at 8:30 AM ET; Reported ISM Manufacturing Thursday October 1; Reported September Nonfarm Payrolls Friday October 2 at 8:30 AM ET; Reported Q3 Bank Earnings Kick Off October 13.

Per Bureau of Economic Analysis release calendar coverage carried through prior briefs, the reported August Personal Income and Outlays release (including the reported PCE inflation series) is reportedly scheduled Wednesday, September 30 at 8:30 AM ET, with reported consensus paths carried through Cleveland Fed nowcasts framing a reported still-elevated core-inflation read. Per BLS release calendar coverage, the reported September Employment Situation is reportedly scheduled Friday, October 2 at 8:30 AM ET — the reported principal week-ahead macro catalyst into the reported October 27–28 FOMC meeting. Per ISM release calendar coverage, the reported September ISM Manufacturing PMI is reportedly scheduled Thursday, October 1 at 10:00 AM ET with reported ISM Services reportedly following the next week. Per Yahoo Finance and Wall Street Horizon coverage of the reported Q3 2026 earnings calendar, the reported major-bank Q3 sequence is reportedly scheduled to begin the week of October 13, framing a reported financials-led earnings kickoff behind the reported PCE-and-payrolls week. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported PCE-then-ISM-then-payrolls sequence into a reported hawkish-skewed Fed path, followed by a reported Q3 bank-led earnings ramp — keeps CAT, PCAR, FAST, GD, LMT, and the reported FCI Dividend industrial sleeve reading through the reported factory-and-services print while the reported financials-adjacent sleeve (SPGI, NWG, SYF, ORI, SSNC) reads through the reported bank Q3 kickoff.

2. Iran-Hormuz Impasse — Trump Reportedly Rejects Seven-Day Plan Saturday; Araghchi Reportedly Maintains Iran Would Not Concede on Its Conditions; Monday Open Reads Through the Mediator Channel.

Per CNN, NBC News, NPR, Al Jazeera, and CBS News coverage of the Saturday sequence, President Trump reportedly rejected Iranian Foreign Minister Araghchi's reported seven-day framework for reopening the Strait of Hormuz. Per Bloomberg, Times of Israel, and BusinessMirror coverage of the Saturday-into-Sunday Iran response, Araghchi reportedly maintained that Iran would not concede on its reported conditions and reportedly awaits a formal US response through Qatar and Pakistan mediators. Per data drop, Friday's energy tape reportedly discounted a partial de-escalation path with USO approximately ↓3.11%, BNO approximately ↓3.54%, and UNG approximately ↓3.64%. For FCI positioning — a reported public rejection Saturday, a reported Iranian hardening of conditions, and a reported Friday energy pullback ahead of the weekend response window — keeps CVX, OKE, CNX, LMT, and GD reading through the reported physical-crude signal and the reported sanctions perimeter into the Monday setup.

3. Chip-and-Connector Sleeve Reportedly Anchored the Reported Friday Advance — CRDO ↑7.65%, QCOM ↑3.97%, NXPI ↑3.44%, ADI ↑2.87%, LRCX ↑2.62%; Reported November 10 Semiconductor Export-Control Moratorium Sits Behind the Reported January 10 Tariff-Truce Runway.

Per data drop, Friday's reported FCI Growth-Hybrid and Dividend semiconductor sleeve reportedly led with CRDO ↑7.65% at $210.97, QCOM ↑3.97% at $201.97, NXPI ↑3.44% at $238.08, ADI ↑2.87% at $393.60, and LRCX ↑2.62% at $315.21 — with KEYS ↑1.29%, MRVL ↑1.15%, TEL ↑2.30%, and NVDA ↑0.22% also reportedly bid. Per data drop holdings news, one piece reportedly framed Citi as upgrading Lam Research and updating its sector model, and per additional data drop holdings news, one piece reportedly framed NXP Semiconductors as reportedly approximately 7% undervalued after reported embedded-systems growth news. Per data drop headlines, one Reuters piece reportedly framed the reported China-US AI dialogue and a reported $30 billion tariff cut announced during the reported Xi visit — alongside the reported January 10, 2027 tariff-truce extension carried through prior-brief coverage. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported semiconductor-led Friday advance, a reported November 10 semiconductor export-control moratorium expiration sitting behind the reported January 10 tariff-truce runway, and a reported enterprise-software divergence lower (FTNT ↓2.92%, NOW ↓1.57% per data drop) — keeps NVDA, AMD, TSM, MRVL, LRCX, KEYS, CRDO, TEL, ADI, NXPI, QCOM, FTNT, and NOW reading through the reported Pacific-technology channel into the Monday setup.

4. Bitcoin Reportedly Holds Near $84K Over the Weekend as Reported Rising Bond Yields Offset Reported Regulatory Progress; IBIT Reportedly Closed Friday at $47.57.

Per CoinDesk and Coinbase weekend tape coverage, Bitcoin (BTC) reportedly held near approximately $84,000 through the Sunday session, and per Yahoo Finance coverage carried in the data drop holdings news, one piece reportedly framed Bitcoin as reportedly holding near $84,000 as rising bond yields offset reported regulatory progress. Per data drop, IBIT reportedly closed Friday at $47.57 ↓0.50% and ETHA reportedly closed at $20.31 ↓0.10%. For FCI positioning — a reported digital-asset ETF sleeve reading through the reported Fed rate path and the reported Iran-Hormuz weekend impasse — keeps IBIT and ETHA reading through the reported crypto signal and the reported duration layer into the Monday setup.

For internal FCI investment committee use only. Not investment advice. Information from public sources believed reliable. Past performance not indicative of future results. FCI is an RIA under Paradiem.