Markets — Tuesday Reopen

THE FIRST CASH SESSION AFTER LABOR DAY REOPENS INTO A THREE-LAYER OVERNIGHT DOCKET: CANADA'S RETALIATORY COUNTER-TARIFFS ON APPROXIMATELY $19.94 BILLION OF US GOODS TAKE EFFECT TODAY PER FINANCE CANADA AND REUTERS COVERAGE, BRENT TRADES NEAR $96–$97 PER VANTAGE MARKETS AND TRADING ECONOMICS AFTER A HOUTHİ STRIKE ON SAUDI ENERGY FACILITIES REPORTED BY REUTERS, AND BITCOIN SLIPPED BELOW $79,000 PER COINPEDIA COVERAGE AHEAD OF THURSDAY'S AUGUST PPI AND FRIDAY'S AUGUST CPI AT 8:30 AM ET PER THE BLS RELEASE SCHEDULE INTO THE SEPTEMBER 15–16 FOMC

Per Bloomberg and Trading Economics coverage of the Tuesday tape, US equity index futures edged lower overnight as Wall Street returned from the Labor Day extended weekend, with elevated oil and the newly effective Canadian counter-tariff schedule keeping the inflation and rate-path variables active into the CPI print. Per data drop, Friday's cash tape closed with SPY at $770.19 (↓0.39%), QQQ at $718.96 (↑0.18%), Dow (DIA) at $534.08 (↓0.53%), and Russell 2000 (IWM) at $296.01 (↑0.28%), with UVXY (VIX proxy) at $17.53 (↑0.69%). Per CryptoRank and Kalshi tracking cited on Yahoo Finance, CME FedWatch September hike probabilities sit near approximately 58–60% following Friday's hot payrolls print, and per Federal Reserve communications policy the FOMC quiet period runs through Thursday September 17.

SECTOR COMPOSITION ON THE FRIDAY TAPE RETAINED THE PHYSICAL-AI-INFRASTRUCTURE BID AGAINST A CYCLICAL-AND-DEFENSIVE FADE — TECH WAS THE ONLY GREEN SECTOR AT ↑0.70% LED BY AI EQUIPMENT AND CONNECTIVITY (LRCX ↑5.12%, MRVL ↑7.05%, CRDO ↑3.90%, AMD ↑4.69% PER DATA DROP) WITH INDEPENDENT-POWER (CEG ↑4.88%, VST ↑3.52%) AND BITCOIN-MINER (HUT ↑6.19%) NAMES EXTENDING ALONGSIDE — WHILE CONSUMER DISCRETIONARY (↓1.33%), COMMUNICATIONS SERVICES (↓1.19%), HEALTHCARE (↓1.04%), ENERGY (↓0.87%), AND STAPLES (↓0.80%) ALL FADED, REFLECTING THE POST-PAYROLLS HIKE-BID RESET PER CME FEDWATCH

Per data drop sector map, XLK closed ↑0.70% as the sole green sector, with XLI ↑0.41% and XLU ↑0.12% as the only other advancers; the fade extended through XLB (↓0.34%), XLRE (↓0.72%), XLF (↓0.79%), XLP (↓0.80%), XLE (↓0.87%), XLV (↓1.04%), XLC (↓1.19%), and XLY (↓1.33%). Per data drop movers list, the top five FCI names on Friday were MRVL ↑7.05%, HUT ↑6.19%, LRCX ↑5.12%, CEG ↑4.88%, and AMD ↑4.69% — a composition dominated by AI equipment, independent power, and mining exposure to the AMD-Anthropic capital-commitment disclosure per prior brief coverage. For FCI positioning, the composition — a physical-AI-infrastructure sleeve carrying the Friday tape against a defensive-and-cyclical fade tied to the reset September rate-hike distribution — keeps the Growth-Hybrid and Dividend-Strategy sleeves reading through the intersection of the compute-buildout track, the Fed quiet period, and the CPI print Friday.

A Tuesday reopen that carries three separately sourced overnight variables — a live tariff schedule, an extended physical-supply shock, and a rate-path repricing running into a single CPI print — tends to produce sharper session-level dispersion than any of the three would individually. Discipline over impulse.

SECTION 02

Geopolitics — Three Overnight Escalations Land Together: Canada's Retaliatory Counter-Tariffs on ~$19.94B of US Goods Take Effect Today per Finance Canada; a Houthi Strike on Saudi Energy Facilities Reportedly Wounded Approximately 73 per Reuters Coverage Carried in the Data Drop Headlines, Extending the Iran-Axis Physical-Supply Compound; and the Witkoff-Kushner Kyiv Leg Ended Without a Deal With Zelenskyy Publicly Framing the Winter Outlook as an Ongoing War per France 24 and Kyiv Independent Coverage

TRADE AXIS: CANADA'S RETALIATORY COUNTER-TARIFFS ON APPROXIMATELY C$27.6 BILLION (~$19.94 BILLION) OF US GOODS TAKE EFFECT TODAY PER FINANCE CANADA AND REUTERS COVERAGE, APPLYING DUTIES OF 15%, 25%, AND 50% ACROSS APPROXIMATELY 700 PRODUCT LINES INCLUDING STEEL, DAIRY, AND AGRICULTURAL EQUIPMENT PER AL JAZEERA AND CNBC COVERAGE — THE ESCALATION RESPONDS DOLLAR-FOR-DOLLAR TO THE TRUMP 50% TARIFF PACKAGE ON ~$20 BILLION OF CANADIAN IMPORTS AND SITS ALONGSIDE A C$7.5 BILLION OTTAWA SUPPORT PACKAGE PER THE HILL AND IRISH TIMES COVERAGE; FOR FCI POSITIONING, THE COMPOSITION EXTENDS THE CROSS-BORDER COST COMPOUND INTO NAMES WITH DIRECT US-CANADA SUPPLY CHAINS AND STEEL EXPOSURE

Per Finance Canada's September 8 effective schedule and Reuters coverage, Canada's retaliatory counter-tariffs on approximately C$27.6 billion (approximately $19.94 billion) of US goods take effect today, applying duties of 15%, 25%, and 50% across approximately 700 product lines identified in a 99-page schedule issued by Finance Minister François-Philippe Champagne per Al Jazeera and CNBC coverage. Per Al Jazeera coverage of Prime Minister Mark Carney's announcement, the schedule targets steel, dairy products, and agricultural equipment among other categories in a dollar-for-dollar response to the Trump 50% tariff package on approximately $20 billion of Canadian imports. Per The Hill and Irish Times coverage, Ottawa also announced a C$7.5 billion package of new and enhanced support measures for small and medium-sized businesses, workers, and cash-flow financing for affected companies. For FCI positioning, the composition — a live cross-border counter-tariff schedule sitting alongside the physical-supply energy variable and the rate-path repricing — keeps the FCI Dividend-Strategy names with direct US-Canada exposure (STLD, CAT, FAST, PCAR) reading through the intersection of the tariff schedule, the September rate-hike distribution, and the CPI print Friday.

MIDDLE EAST AXIS: A HOUSHI STRIKE ON SAUDI ENERGY FACILITIES REPORTEDLY WOUNDED APPROXIMATELY 73 PER REUTERS COVERAGE CARRIED IN THE DATA DROP HEADLINES, EXTENDING THE IRAN-AXIS PHYSICAL-SUPPLY COMPOUND; PER REUTERS COVERAGE ALSO CARRIED IN THE DATA DROP, HORMUZ TRAFFIC REPORTEDLY SLOWED AFTER IRAN THREATENED RETALIATION FOR US ATTACKS; AND PER AL JAZEERA AND VANTAGE MARKETS COVERAGE, BRENT TRADED NEAR $96-$97 PER BARREL OVERNIGHT WITH WTI NEAR $92 — THE COMPOSITION EXTENDS THE IRAN-AXIS PHYSICAL-SUPPLY COMPOUND AHEAD OF THE FOMC WINDOW

Per Reuters coverage carried in the data drop headlines, Iran-backed Houthi forces reportedly struck Saudi energy facilities with authorities citing approximately 73 wounded, an escalation that extends the Iran-axis physical-supply compound beyond the direct US-Iran maritime exchange. Per additional Reuters coverage carried in the data drop headlines, traffic through the Strait of Hormuz reportedly slowed following renewed Iranian retaliation warnings tied to US attacks, and per Al Jazeera and Vantage Markets coverage of the overnight tape, Brent traded near $96-$97 per barrel with WTI near $92 following the weekend US-Iran tanker exchange. Per data drop, WTI (USO proxy) closed Friday at $141.96 and Brent (BNO proxy) at $56.11 (the USO/BNO ETF prices reflect ETF-specific accounting, not spot barrel prices). Per data drop headlines, Reuters also flagged Indian equities fell as persistent Middle East risks lifted oil, and the rupee weakened as oil neared a six-week high. For FCI positioning, the composition — a Houthi extension into Saudi energy infrastructure, a slowed Hormuz transit signal, and a physical-supply premium anchored above $90 per barrel for WTI heading into the FOMC window — keeps the FCI energy sleeve (CVX, CNX, OKE) reading directly through the Iran-side kinetic variable and the rate-path repricing.

UKRAINE AXIS: THE KYIV LEG OF THE WITKOFF-KUSHNER TRIP ENDED WITHOUT A BREAKTHROUGH PER KYIV INDEPENDENT AND FRANCE 24 COVERAGE — ZELENSKY PUBLICLY TOLD REPORTERS HE EXPECTS THE WAR TO CONTINUE INTO THE WINTER, THE 72-HOUR RECIPROCAL STRIKE PAUSE ON KYIV AND MOSCOW EXPIRED MONDAY PER HNGN COVERAGE WITH NO FOLLOW-UP ANNOUNCED, AND PER FRANCE 24 COVERAGE ZELENSKY SAID UKRAINE IS COUNTING ON US ENERGY AND AIR DEFENSE SUPPORT THROUGH THE WINTER — THE COMPOSITION KEEPS THE DIPLOMATIC CORRIDOR FORMALLY OPEN WHILE THE UNDERLYING KINETIC TRACK REASSERTS

Per Kyiv Independent coverage of the Kyiv session, the Witkoff-Kushner Kyiv leg following the Saturday Kremlin meeting did not yield a peace agreement, with the outlet reporting that the war is expected to continue. Per France 24 coverage of Zelenskyy's post-meeting remarks, the Ukrainian president publicly indicated he expects the war to persist into the winter months and said Ukraine is counting on US energy and air-defense support through the winter; discussions reportedly covered security and economic guarantees, air-defense missile supplies, and a winter support package. Per HNGN and Kyiv Independent coverage, the 72-hour reciprocal pause on strikes against Kyiv and Moscow expired Monday with no follow-up announced, and per Axios and The Hill coverage the US envoys publicly characterized the discussions as substantive while indicating a hope to resume trilateral talks. For FCI positioning, the composition — a formal diplomatic corridor still open against a resumed kinetic track and a public Ukrainian winter-support ask — keeps the Ukraine axis as an active repricing variable while the Middle East axis holds firmly at the front of the book heading into the CPI print.

On Our Radar

1. Canada Retaliatory Counter-Tariffs Go Live Today per Finance Canada Effective Schedule — The Approximately C$27.6 Billion (~$19.94 Billion) Package Applies 15%, 25%, and 50% Duties Across Approximately 700 Product Lines Including Steel, Dairy Products, and Agricultural Equipment per Al Jazeera, CNBC, and The Hill Coverage; the FCI Dividend-Strategy Sleeve Carries Named Exposure Through STLD (Steel Dynamics, Fri Close $242.06 ↓1.61% per Data Drop), CAT (Caterpillar, $813.94 ↑1.72%), FAST (Fastenal, $49.60 ↑0.75%), and PCAR (PACCAR, $124.70 ↑0.15%) — Cross-Border Cost-Pass-Through Risk Sits Directly Alongside the CPI Print Scheduled Three Sessions Ahead. Per Finance Canada's September 8 effective schedule and Al Jazeera, CNBC, Reuters, and The Hill coverage of Prime Minister Mark Carney's August 22 announcement, Canada's retaliatory counter-tariffs on approximately C$27.6 billion of US goods take effect today, applying duties of 15%, 25%, and 50% across a 99-page schedule identifying approximately 700 product lines. Per The Hill coverage, Ottawa announced a C$7.5 billion package of new and enhanced support measures for small and medium-sized businesses, cash-flow financing, and worker support. For FCI positioning, the composition — a live counter-tariff schedule targeting steel, dairy, and agricultural equipment sequenced directly into the CPI print — keeps the Dividend-Strategy sleeve (STLD, CAT, FAST, PCAR) and the Growth-Hybrid steel-and-materials expression reading through the cross-border cost-pass-through variable ahead of the September 15–16 FOMC.

2. Marquee Prints — August PPI Publishes Thursday September 10 Before the Open and August CPI Publishes Friday September 11 at 8:30 AM ET per the BLS Release Schedule as the Last Direct Pre-FOMC Inflation Reads; per CryptoRank and Kalshi Tracking Cited on Yahoo Finance, CME FedWatch September Hike Probabilities Sit Near Approximately 58–60% Following Friday's Hot Payrolls Print, and per Federal Reserve Communications Policy the FOMC Quiet Period Runs Through Thursday September 17 — the ECB Rate Decision Also Publishes Thursday September 11 With Reuters Poll of Economists Expecting a Second Consecutive Hold per FXStreet Coverage, Adding a Cross-Border Rate-Path Layer to the Same-Week Docket. Per BLS release schedule, August PPI publishes Thursday September 10 before the open and August CPI publishes Friday September 11 at 8:30 AM ET, sequencing the last direct pre-FOMC inflation reads ahead of the September 15–16 rate decision. Per CryptoRank and Kalshi tracking cited on Yahoo Finance and Growbeansprout, CME FedWatch September hike probabilities sit near approximately 58–60% following Friday's hot payrolls print. Per Federal Reserve communications policy, the FOMC quiet period runs through Thursday September 17. Per FXStreet coverage of the ECB, the Governing Council announces its rate decision Thursday September 11 with a Reuters poll of 69 economists showing 66 expect rates unchanged, marking a second consecutive hold. For FCI positioning, the composition — two US inflation prints, an ECB rate decision on the same Thursday, and a Fed in the communications quiet period — concentrates the rate-path repricing risk into the Thursday-Friday window ahead of the FOMC.

3. Digital-Asset Sleeve on the Overnight Tape — Per Coinpedia Coverage of the Tuesday Morning Print, Bitcoin Fell Approximately 1.55% Over 24 Hours to Approximately $78,565, Slipping Below $79,000 as Strong US Payrolls Data and Higher Treasury Yields Increased Pressure on Risk Assets; IBIT and ETHA Cash Prints Closed Friday at $45.23 ↓2.42% and $18.52 ↓2.63% Respectively per Data Drop, and per Yahoo Finance Coverage Carried in the Data Drop Headlines, Spot Bitcoin ETFs Reportedly Drew Approximately $731 Million in a Single Day While XRP ETF Inflows Reportedly Fell Approximately 83% Week-Over-Week — the Composition Sits Alongside the Rate-Path Repricing Into the CPI Print.

Per Coinpedia coverage of the Tuesday morning Bitcoin tape, Bitcoin traded near approximately $78,565 (↓1.55% over 24 hours), slipping below $79,000 as strong US payrolls data and higher Treasury yields pressured risk assets. Per data drop, IBIT closed Friday at $45.23 (↓2.42%) and ETHA at $18.52 (↓2.63%), and per Yahoo Finance coverage carried in the data drop headlines noting spot Bitcoin ETFs reportedly drew approximately $731 million in a single day while XRP ETF inflows reportedly fell approximately 83% week-over-week, spot Bitcoin ETF inflows remained supported through the hike-bid reprice. For FCI positioning, the composition — a Digital-Asset sleeve absorbing the rate-path reprice as Bitcoin slipped below $79,000 while ETF inflows continued to rotate toward Bitcoin — keeps IBIT and ETHA reading through the intersection of the reset September rate-hike distribution, the Fed quiet period, and the Friday CPI print.

4. Physical-AI-Infrastructure Sleeve Carried the Friday Tape Alongside the AMD-Anthropic Capital-Commitment Disclosure — Data Drop Movers Show MRVL (FCI Growth-Hybrid) ↑7.05% to $223.55, HUT ↑6.19% to $93.55, LRCX (FCI Dividend-Strategy) ↑5.12% to $307.65, CEG ↑4.88% to $298.96, and AMD ↑4.69% to $477.57 as the AI Equipment, Connectivity, Independent-Power, and Bitcoin-Miner Layers Extended per Prior Brief Coverage of the AMD Commitment of up to $5 Billion to Anthropic per Yahoo Finance; per Data Drop Holdings News, HUT (Bitcoin Miner) Also Reportedly Received a Boost Tied to a $35 Billion Anthropic-Linked Deal per Yahoo Finance Coverage — the Sleeve Sits Directly Alongside the Rate-Path Variable Into the CPI Print.

Per data drop top-movers list, MRVL (FCI Growth-Hybrid) closed Friday at $223.55 (↑7.05%), HUT at $93.55 (↑6.19%), LRCX (FCI Dividend-Strategy) at $307.65 (↑5.12%), CEG at $298.96 (↑4.88%), and AMD at $477.57 (↑4.69%). Per Yahoo Finance coverage carried in the data drop holdings news, HUT's AI pivot reportedly received a boost tied to a $35 billion Anthropic-linked deal, AMD reportedly unveiled a $100,000-plus AI workstation for 2027, and CRDO (FCI Growth-Hybrid, Friday $170.57 ↑3.90%) drew continued coverage for its role in AI GPU infrastructure. For FCI positioning, the composition — AI equipment, connectivity, independent-power, and Bitcoin-mining layers all extending on the Friday tape despite the rate-hike bid — keeps the physical-AI-infrastructure axis reading through the intersection of the compute-buildout track, the reset September rate-path distribution, and the Friday CPI print.

5. Oracle (ORCL) Fiscal Q1 2027 Earnings Report Sequences After the Close Wednesday September 9 (or Ahead of Wednesday's Open) per Moomoo, Investing.com, and Barchart Coverage, With Analyst Consensus Near $1.74 EPS and Approximately $19.14 Billion Revenue per Moomoo Coverage — The Print Sits Alongside AMD Data Center Head Forrest Norrod Speaking at Goldman Sachs' Communacopia & Technology Conference Today per Yahoo Finance Coverage, and Together They Extend the Physical-AI-Infrastructure Read Directly Into the CPI Print Window.

Per Moomoo, Investing.com, and Barchart coverage of Oracle's fiscal Q1 2027 earnings calendar, ORCL is scheduled to report after the close Wednesday September 9 (or ahead of the September 10 open per Finance Calendar), with analyst consensus near $1.74 EPS and revenue near $19.14 billion. Per Moomoo coverage, sell-side focus is on the sustainability of Oracle Cloud Infrastructure growth and any updates on the AI-related contract pipeline. Per Yahoo Finance coverage carried in the physical-AI-infrastructure read, AMD Data Center head Forrest Norrod is scheduled to speak at Goldman Sachs' Communacopia & Technology Conference today, adding an incremental data-center commentary channel into the same window. For FCI positioning, the composition — a marquee cloud-infrastructure print sequenced into the tariff-and-CPI window and an AMD data-center commentary channel today — keeps the physical-AI-infrastructure sleeve reading through incremental compute-and-power-demand signals.

6. Carson's SPY $645.80 Support Remains Active — Friday's $769.00 Intraday Low Left the Level Untouched and Sits Approximately 16.2% Below the SPY $770.19 Cash Close per Data Drop; No Active Resistance Levels on the Book Following the April 14 Major-Zone Breakout of $691.90–$693.20. The Data-Drop Fear & Greed Reading of 69 "Greed" Reflects the CNN Endpoint Falling Back to the Crypto Fear-and-Greed Index — Per MacroMicro Coverage of the CNN Stock-Market Reading, Treat the Actual CNN Read as Approximately 42 "Fear" for This Brief Following the Friday Hot-Payrolls Reset, With No Cash Session Traded Monday.

Per levels.json, Carson's active SPY support at $645.80 remained untouched through Friday's $769.00–$772.87 SPY intraday range per data drop and sits approximately 16.2% below the last cash-market print at $770.19. No active resistance levels are on the book following the April 14 breakout of the $691.90–$693.20 major zone (both hit that session). With Monday's Labor Day closure keeping the level unchanged into today's reopen, Canada's counter-tariffs live from today, PPI Thursday and CPI Friday sequencing into the September 15–16 FOMC, and the Xi Washington state visit September 24 sitting sixteen calendar days from today per prior CSIS coverage cited in prior briefs, the pre-committed FCI deployment discipline (70% of reserves at –25% drawdown, remaining 30% at –40%) continues to frame reactive positioning against any single-session gap through the multi-catalyst window. Note: the data drop Fear & Greed reading of 69 "Greed" reflects the CNN endpoint falling back to the crypto Fear-and-Greed Index; per MacroMicro coverage of the CNN stock-market reading, the actual reading was approximately 42 "Fear" as of September 4 and no cash session has traded since.
