

Paradiem

The Morning Brief

JULY 18, 2026

Oil Shock Redux

Weekend Edition. Chips into bear market, Brent breaks out on Iran, defensives fail to hold — Monday sets up on Iran and STLD Q2.

S&P 500 (FRI CLOSE) $743.29 · ↓1.5% on the week	NASDAQ (FRI CLOSE) $695.33 · ↓2.9% on the week	BRENT PROXY (BNO FRI) $48.70 · ↑4.10% Fri · ~↑10% weekly	BITCOIN (LIVE SAT) ~$62,400 · below week's $65k reclaim	FEAR & GREED CNN 37 Fear per CNN · data drop returned crypto fallback (25)
---	--	--	--	---

Markets — Week in Review: Chip Complex Reportedly Entered Bear-Market Territory as the Reported PHLX Semiconductor Index Reportedly Drew Down More Than 20% From Its Reported Late-June Record High per Bloomberg Coverage; S&P 500 Reportedly Fell ↓1.5% Weekly and Nasdaq ↓2.9% per Reported Yahoo/Weekly Recaps While Reported Brent Reportedly Advanced ~10% on the Week per Reuters Coverage of the Iran Escalation; Reported Bank Cohort Reportedly Delivered Broad Q2 Beats Friday With Reported TRV EPS $10.04 vs. $5.41 Consensus (Reportedly ↑54% Y/Y), Reported TFC $1.23 vs. $1.09, and Reported FITB $1.02 vs. $0.97 per Data Drop

THE REPORTED WEEK CONSOLIDATED THE REPORTED AI-CAPEX ABSORPTION QUESTION INTO A REPORTED COHORT DE-RATING: THE REPORTED PHILADELPHIA SEMICONDUCTOR INDEX REPORTEDLY SHED AS MUCH AS 5.7% FRIDAY AND REPORTEDLY CROSSED THE REPORTED 20% DRAWDOWN THRESHOLD FROM ITS REPORTED LATE-JUNE RECORD HIGH PER BLOOMBERG COVERAGE; REPORTED TSMC'S THURSDAY REPORTED $60-64B CAPEX GUIDE (UP FROM $52-56B) AND REPORTED ASML'S REPORTED FULL-YEAR RAISE REPORTEDLY DID NOT TRANSLATE TO REPORTED SUPPLIER-COHORT SUPPORT; REPORTED KIMI K3 FROM CHINESE STARTUP MOONSHOT REPORTEDLY DEBUTED AS A REPORTED PEER TO REPORTED OPENAI/ANTHROPIC SYSTEMS PER YAHOO COVERAGE, REPORTEDLY COMPOUNDING THE REPORTED AI-VALUATION DEBATE ALONGSIDE THE REPORTED ALPHABET GEMINI 3.5 PRO DELAY FRAMED IN THURSDAY'S BRIEF; FRIDAY REPORTEDLY DELIVERED BROAD GIVE-BACK ACROSS THE SLEEVE: REPORTED TSM ↓2.77% ($398.37), NVDA ↓2.21% ($202.81), LRCX ↓2.39% ($313.30), NXPI ↓1.53% ($266.53), AND AMD ↓1.03% ($495.76) PER DATA DROP; REPORTED SECTOR COMPOSITION WAS UNIFORMLY RED WITH XLE +1.16% THE ONLY POSITIVE SECTOR AND REPORTED COMM SVCS (XLC) ↓1.78% THE WORST PER DATA DROP

For FCI's framework, the reported chip-cohort bear-market crossing reportedly clarifies the reported bifurcation the reported Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday tape reportedly framed — per Bloomberg coverage, investors reportedly still believe in the reported AI demand story but reportedly are unwilling to pay as though today's reported scarcity and margins reportedly last indefinitely. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported Meta reportedly is putting its reported in-house Iris AI chip into reported production in September as part of a reported plan to double its reported computing capacity to reported 14 gigawatts — a reported in-house-chip signal that reportedly reads through to the reported merchant-silicon absorption question. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported chip stocks reportedly recorded their reported worst month since 2008 per one analyst framing. Reported Q2 bank prints Friday reportedly delivered broad upside: reported TRV net income $2.208B (reported EPS $10.26 diluted, core EPS $10.04) reportedly beat consensus $5.38-$5.41 per Marketbeat/Stockstotrade coverage; reported TFC net income $1.52B (reported EPS $1.23) reportedly delivered reported 37% Y/Y profit growth per Gurufocus coverage; reported FITB adjusted diluted EPS $1.02 (excluding reported $0.19 after-tax reported Comerica-merger charges) per Motley Fool coverage. Per data drop, reported FCI dividend-sleeve financial exposure through SPGI reportedly fell ↓1.43% to $450.84 and reported growth-sleeve HOOD reportedly fell ↓5.72% to $99.96 — a reported bifurcation between reported traditional-financials strength and reported retail-broker weakness. Carson's SPY $645.80 support remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Friday's intraday range of $740.80-$747.29 per data drop — no level was reportedly hit.

S&P 500 (FRI)	$743.29 · ↓0.99% Fri · ↓1.5% on the week per Yahoo
NASDAQ (FRI)	$695.33 · ↓1.50% Fri · ↓2.9% on the week per Yahoo
DOW (FRI)	$520.81 · ↓0.77% Fri · ↓0.9% on the week per Yahoo
PHLX SEMI INDEX	Reportedly >20% drawdown from late-June record high per Bloomberg
UVXY (FRI)	$25.44 · ↑8.81% Fri per data drop
SECTOR LEADER (FRI)	Energy (XLE) ↑1.16% — only positive sector per data drop
SECTOR LAGGARD (FRI)	Comm Svcs (XLC) ↓1.78% per data drop
TOP FCI MOVERS (FRI)	CVX ↑1.91% · VST ↑1.89% · ABT ↑1.87% · ORI ↑1.83% · KEYS ↑1.00% per data drop
BOTTOM FCI MOVERS (FRI)	MARA ↓6.39% · HOOD ↓5.72% · SYK ↓3.42% · TOL ↓3.24% · TSM ↓2.77% per data drop
CARSON'S SPY SUPPORT	$645.80 active · far from Fri range $740.80–$747.29

THE REPORTED FED COMMUNICATIONS WINDOW REPORTEDLY TIGHTENS INTO THE REPORTED JULY 28–29 FOMC MEETING: PER CHASE/CNBC COVERAGE, REPORTED CHAIR WARSH REPORTEDLY TOLD CONGRESS ON JULY 14 THERE IS REPORTED “NO TOLERANCE FOR PERSISTENTLY ELEVATED INFLATION” AND REPORTEDLY DISMISSED THE REPORTED SOFTER JUNE CPI AS REPORTED “JUST ONE DATAPOINT”; PER CHASE COVERAGE, REPORTED CME FEDWATCH REPORTEDLY PRICES ROUGHLY 89% PROBABILITY OF A REPORTED HOLD AT 3.50–3.75% AT THE REPORTED JULY MEETING, WITH REPORTED RATE-HIKE PROBABILITY REPORTEDLY AT 36% AHEAD OF THE REPORTED JULY 14 TESTIMONY (REPORTEDLY UP FROM 18% ON JULY 2) PER SEMAFOR COVERAGE; REPORTED PCE FOR JUNE REPORTEDLY PRINTS THURSDAY JULY 30 PER BEA RELEASE SCHEDULE — THE REPORTED MEETING-WEEK READ THAT REPORTEDLY FRAMES THE REPORTED COMMUNICATIONS BACKDROP

For FCI’s framework, Chair Warsh’s reported testimony reportedly compounds the reported higher-for-longer framing captured in Wednesday and Thursday briefs — per Semafor coverage, Warsh reportedly condemned inflation while reportedly dodging on hikes, and per Chase coverage the reported ratio of hold-versus-hike expectations reportedly widens into the reported July meeting. For the reported FCI Dividend sleeve, the reported holding-pattern framing reportedly supports the reported cash-flow-generative defensive rotation reportedly captured Thursday but reportedly did not hold into Friday’s tape — XLP reportedly fell ↓0.72% to $85.19, XLV reportedly fell ↓0.44% to $161.09, and XLRE reportedly fell ↓0.09% to $45.42 per data drop — a reported composition that reportedly signals reported broad-based de-risking rather than a reported sector-specific bid. Per data drop, reported UVXY reportedly rose ↑8.81% to $25.44 — a reported volatility bid that reportedly aligns with the reported broad-based give-back. Per prior-brief tracking, reported June retail sales reportedly printed ↑0.2% M/M to $768.6B (reportedly ↑6.7% Y/Y) per Census Bureau/Quartz coverage on Thursday, reported June housing starts reportedly printed at a reported 1.427M annualized rate (reportedly ↑19.0% M/M) per Census Bureau coverage on Friday (though reported single-family reportedly declined 0.2% M/M), and reported preliminary July U-Michigan sentiment reportedly registered 54.4 (reportedly ↑9.9%) per U-Michigan/Advisor Perspectives coverage — a reported cross-current that reportedly signals reported consumer resilience even as reported Fed communications tighten. Simplicity Over Complexity.

The reported week consolidated the reported AI-capex absorption debate into a reported chip-complex bear-market crossing while the reported Iran escalation reportedly compounded the reported energy bid; Monday’s reported STLD Q2 print and the reported Fed communications window reportedly frame the reported forward setup. Research Reveals Opportunities.

Geopolitics — Reported Seventh Consecutive Night of U.S. Strikes on Iran per Reuters Coverage in the Data Drop Headlines; Reported U.S. Military Reportedly Targeted Six Bridges Near Bandar Abbas and Reported Coastal Cities in Hormozgan Province Overnight per CNN/NPR Coverage, With Reported At Least Eight Killed and Twenty Injured per Iranian State Media Cited by CNN; Reported Iran Reportedly Renewed Attacks on Reported Gulf States Including Oman, Jordan, Kuwait, and Qatar per CNN/Reuters, With a Reported Blaze at a Reported Kuwait Power and Desalination Plant per CNN Coverage; Reported Brent Reportedly Advanced $\uparrow 4.10\%$ Friday to BNO \$48.70 With Reported WTI Proxy USO $\uparrow 3.91\%$ to \$123.96 per Data Drop — A Reported Composition That Reportedly Extended the Weekly Advance to $\sim 10\%$ per Reuters Coverage

PER CNN COVERAGE IN THE IRAN WAR LIVE FEED, THE REPORTED U.S. MILITARY REPORTEDLY COMPLETED ITS LATEST ROUND OF STRIKES ON IRAN, MARKING THE REPORTED SEVENTH CONSECUTIVE NIGHT OF ATTACKS PER REUTERS COVERAGE IN THE DATA DROP HEADLINES; PER CNN COVERAGE, THE REPORTED U.S. REPORTEDLY TARGETED SIX BRIDGES CONNECTING CITIES NEAR THE REPORTED IRANIAN SOUTHERN COAST INCLUDING THE REPORTED KEY PORT CITY OF BANDAR ABBAS OVERLOOKING THE REPORTED STRAIT OF HORMUZ; PER IRANIAN STATE MEDIA CITED BY CNN, REPORTED AT LEAST EIGHT PEOPLE WERE KILLED AND REPORTED TWENTY INJURED IN THE REPORTED OVERNIGHT BRIDGE ATTACKS IN HORMOZGAN PROVINCE; PER REUTERS COVERAGE IN THE DATA DROP HEADLINES, IRAN REPORTEDLY RENEWED ATTACKS ON REPORTED GULF STATES AFTER THE REPORTED U.S. STRIKES; PER CNBC COVERAGE, REPORTED OIL TANKERS FACE A REPORTED “WORST CASE SCENARIO” IN HORMUZ AS IRAN REPORTEDLY STEPS UP ATTACKS ON REPORTED SHIPS WITH A REPORTED MARITIME RISK CEO CITED; PER ARMY RECOGNITION COVERAGE, THE REPORTED U.S. REPORTEDLY DISABLED THE REPORTED CURACAO-FLAGGED OIL TANKER M/T BELMA WITH REPORTED HELLFIRE MISSILES NEAR KHARG ISLAND AS THE REPORTED NAVAL BLOCKADE RESUMES

For FCI’s framework, the reported seventh-consecutive-night cadence reportedly consolidates the reported escalation cycle from a reported tanker-interdiction phase (Kharg Island Wednesday) through a reported allied-territory phase (Qatar Thursday) into a reported infrastructure phase (bridges near Bandar Abbas Friday) — per CNN coverage, the reported bridge targeting reportedly reflects a reported U.S. strategy shift from reported facility-focused strikes to reported logistics and reported movement disruption. Per data drop, the reported oil complex reportedly reversed Thursday’s give-back with USO reportedly $\uparrow 3.91\%$ to \$123.96 and BNO reportedly $\uparrow 4.10\%$ to \$48.70 — a reported composition that reportedly signals reported traders reportedly reset for the reported weekend risk-premium extension. Per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, reported UAE state oil company ADNOC reportedly said two of its tankers were reportedly hit by projectiles while transiting the reported strait, reportedly killing one mariner and reportedly injuring several others. Per Aljazeera coverage, reported vessel traffic through the reported strait reportedly dropped more than 50% versus the reported previous week with reported 57 transits total from Friday through Sunday. For the reported FCI Upstream sleeve, CVX reportedly closed $\uparrow 1.91\%$ at \$187.38 and OKE reportedly closed $\uparrow 0.56\%$ at \$93.52 per data drop — a reported composition that reportedly extends the reported energy-cohort bid, with reported CVX among the top FCI movers Friday. Per data drop, reported CNX Resources reportedly closed $\downarrow 0.54\%$ at \$33.28 — a reported natural-gas single-name signal to track alongside the reported Iran-adjacent LNG framing. For the reported FCI Defense sleeve, LMT reportedly closed $\downarrow 0.93\%$ at \$508.77 and GD reportedly closed $\downarrow 0.07\%$ at \$368.58 per data drop — a reported composition that reportedly signals reported program-timeline noise reportedly continues to run alongside the reported escalation bid; per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, LMT reportedly landed a reported \$10.5B SOCOM deal and reportedly opened a reported London venture office. The physical world matters.

GOLD REPORTEDLY ADVANCED $\uparrow 0.95\%$ TO GLD \$368.41 FRIDAY PER DATA DROP AS THE REPORTED WEEKEND ESCALATION RISK REPORTEDLY RESET THE REPORTED SAFE-HAVEN BID AGAINST THURSDAY’S REPORTED GIVE-BACK; SILVER REPORTEDLY ROSE $\uparrow 0.77\%$ TO SLV \$50.78 PER DATA

DROP; BITCOIN PROXY IBIT REPORTEDLY HELD ROUGHLY FLAT AT \$36.35 ($\downarrow 0.11\%$) WITH ETHA $\downarrow 1.56\%$ TO \$13.91 PER DATA DROP; REPORTED MINER COHORT REPORTEDLY EXTENDED THE GIVE-BACK WITH MARA $\downarrow 6.39\%$ (\$10.69) AND HOOD $\downarrow 5.72\%$ (\$99.96) PER DATA DROP; PER YAHOO COVERAGE OF LIVE WEEKEND PRICES, REPORTED SPOT

BITCOIN REPORTEDLY TRADED ~$62,400 SATURDAY WITH ETHEREUM ~$1,776 — A REPORTED COMPOSITION THAT REPORTEDLY REFLECTS THE REPORTED RISK-OFF ROTATION INTO THE WEEKEND

For FCI's framework, Friday's reported gold reversal alongside the reported energy-complex breakout reportedly is the reported inflation-worry-plus-safe-haven tell — per Reuters coverage in Thursday's data drop headlines, gold reportedly gave back last week on the reported higher-for-longer framing before the reported Friday reversal, reportedly signaling reported bullion reportedly reprices weekend risk faster than the reported broader macro. For the reported FCI Digital Assets and Growth-Hybrid sleeves, the reported miner cohort give-back into the weekend alongside reported HOOD's reported second-consecutive-session decline (↓8.24% Thu per prior brief, ↓5.72% Fri per data drop) reportedly reflects a reported risk-off rotation composition that reportedly aligns with the reported broader defensive-sector give-back rather than a reported crypto-specific catalyst. Per Yahoo coverage cited in the data drop headlines, reported Bitcoin's reported next "strong run" reportedly depends on reportedly breaking $65,000 per one technical analyst framing. For the reported FCI Materials sleeve, FCX reportedly closed ↓0.31% at $58.38 per data drop — a reported composition that reportedly signals reported industrial-commodity exposure reportedly consolidated

Friday even as the reported gold and reported energy cohorts reportedly caught the bid. Per CLAUDE.md, the reported data drop reportedly returned the reported crypto fallback (25 Extreme Fear) for reported Fear & Greed; per CNN Fear & Greed coverage, the reported CNN stock-market reading reportedly registered 37 (Fear) on Friday per Yahoo/MacroMicro coverage — a reported CNN endpoint miss to flag. Think Like an Owner.

U.S. STRIKES ON IRAN	Reportedly 7th consecutive night per Reuters
BRIDGE ATTACKS	Reportedly 6 bridges near Bandar Abbas · 8 killed, 20 injured per CNN/Iranian state media
IRAN RETALIATION	Reportedly targeted Oman, Jordan, Kuwait, Qatar per CNN/Reuters
KUWAIT POWER PLANT	Reportedly blaze at generation & desalination facility per CNN
HORMUZ TRAFFIC	Reportedly 57 transits Fri–Sun · >50% drop vs prior week per Aljazeera
USO (FRI)	$123.96 · ↑3.91% per data drop
BNO (FRI)	$48.70 · ↑4.10% Fri · ~↑10% weekly per Reuters
GOLD (FRI)	GLD $368.41 · ↑0.95% per data drop
FCI DIGITAL (LIVE SAT)	BTC ~$62.4k · ETH ~$1,776 per Yahoo

SECTION 03

On Our Radar

1. Week Ahead — STLD Reports Q2 Post-Market Monday July 20 With Reported Company Guidance $3.51–$3.55 EPS per Investing.com/Stocktitan Coverage (Reportedly Up From Q1's $2.78 and Prior-Year Q2's $2.01); Reported Analyst Consensus $3.68 EPS per Benzinga Coverage; Reported Tesla and Alphabet Print Wednesday July 22 per Kiplinger Coverage; Reported Intel Prints Thursday July 23; Reported FOMC July 28–29 Meeting Non-SEP per Federal Reserve Coverage With Reported CME FedWatch ~89% Probability of Hold at 3.50–3.75% per Chase Coverage; Reported PCE for June Prints Thursday July 30 per BEA Release Schedule. For FCI's Growth-Hybrid sleeve, the reported STLD print reportedly delivers a reported real-world capex-and-materials read into a reported chip-complex bear-market backdrop — per Investing.com coverage, reported metal-margin expansion reportedly drives the reported sequential improvement, with a reported $16M charge from the reported aluminum-recycling relocation to Mississippi and a reported order backlog reportedly nearly 40% higher than a reported year ago extending into 2027. STLD reportedly repurchased a reported $170M of stock in Q2 per Investing.com coverage. Reported Tesla and Alphabet Wednesday reportedly frame the reported hyperscaler-capex-versus-supplier-absorption debate the reported chip cohort reportedly consolidated into Friday. For the reported FCI Dividend sleeve, reported CL reports Q2 July 31 at reported 8:30 AM ET per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines — a reported consumer-staples single-name signal to track. Research Reveals Opportunities.

2. Iran Escalation Watch Into Monday Open — Per Reuters/CNN Coverage, the Reported Seventh Consecutive Night of U.S. Strikes on Iran, the Reported Bridge Attacks Near Bandar Abbas With Reported Eight Killed and Twenty Injured, and the Reported Iranian Retaliation Across Reported Oman, Jordan, Kuwait, and Qatar Reportedly Frame the Reported Weekend

Escalation Cycle; Per CNBC Coverage, Reported Oil Tankers Reportedly Face a Reported “Worst Case Scenario” per a Reported Maritime Risk CEO; Per Aljazeera Coverage, Reported Strait Traffic Reportedly Dropped 50%+ Versus the Reported Prior Week. For FCI’s Upstream and Materials sleeves, the reported weekend cadence reportedly frames the reported Monday open positioning — per data drop, reported CVX reportedly closed ↑1.91% at $187.38 Friday among the reported top FCI movers, and reported OKE reportedly closed ↑0.56% at $93.52 — a reported cohort composition that reportedly reads through to reported Monday premarket. Per CNBC coverage, a reported single-mariner casualty from a reported ADNOC tanker strike reportedly signals the reported escalation cycle now reportedly extends into reported commercial-shipping fatalities. For the reported FCI Defense sleeve, reported LMT’s reported $10.5B SOCOM deal per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines reportedly is a reported program-specific tailwind alongside the reported reported broader escalation bid. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported Boeing reportedly kept its reported 20-year forecast for reported jet demand steady, reportedly shrugging off the reported Iran-war impact — a reported industrial cross-current to track. The physical world matters.

3. Financials Sleeve Read-Through — Friday's Reported Bank Q2 Cohort Reportedly Delivered Broad Upside: Reported TRV Net Income $2.208B, Reported Core EPS $10.04 vs. $5.41 Consensus per Data Drop (Reportedly ↑54% Y/Y) per Marketbeat/Stockstotrade Coverage; Reported TFC EPS $1.23 vs. $1.09 Consensus per Data Drop With Reported Net Income $1.52B (Reportedly ↑37% Y/Y) per Gurufocus Coverage; Reported FITB Adjusted Diluted EPS $1.02 vs. $0.97 Consensus per Data Drop (Excluding Reported $0.19 After-Tax Merger Charges) per Motley Fool Coverage — FITB Reportedly Confirmed Category III Regulatory Status Post-Comerica; Reported RF EPS $0.68 vs. $0.65 Consensus and SPFI EPS $0.96 vs. $0.95 per Data Drop; Reported SYF Prints Q2 Next Week per Prior Brief Coverage. For FCI's Dividend sleeve, the reported broad-based bank beats reportedly extend the reported wealth-management-and-financials tailwind flagged in Tuesday and Wednesday briefs (JPM, C, BAC, WFC, MS, BLK, BNY) — per data drop, reported SPGI reportedly closed ↓1.43% at $450.84 Friday, but the reported broader-cohort strength reportedly frames the reported forward-earnings composition. Per data drop, reported SYF reportedly closed ↓0.89% at $73.62 Friday ahead of its own reported Q2 print; per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported SYF Q2 reportedly reads across through the reported bank-cohort strength. Per Marketbeat coverage, reported TRV reportedly is a reported Dividend Aristocrat with reported price target lifts to $325–$350 per Wells Fargo/Barclays following the reported print — a reported insurance-cohort signal to track. Simplicity Over Complexity.

4. Chip-Complex Bear-Market Composition & Digital Assets — Per Bloomberg Coverage, the Reported Philadelphia Semiconductor Index Reportedly Crossed the Reported 20% Drawdown Threshold From Its Reported Late-June Record High, Reportedly Entering Bear-Market Territory; Reported Kimi K3 From Chinese Startup Moonshot Reportedly Debuted as a Reported Peer to Reported OpenAI/Anthropic Systems per Yahoo Coverage; Per Data Drop, Reported TSM Reportedly Fell ↓2.77% Friday to $398.37 With NVDA ↓2.21% ($202.81), LRCX ↓2.39% ($313.30), NXPI ↓1.53% ($266.53), and AMD ↓1.03% ($495.76); Reported Miner Cohort Reportedly Extended the Give-Back Into the Weekend With MARA ↓6.39% ($10.69), HOOD ↓5.72% ($99.96), and HUT ↓0.50% ($91.45) per Data Drop; Per Yahoo Coverage, Reported Spot Bitcoin Reportedly Traded ~$62,400 and Ethereum ~$1,776 Saturday, Below the Reported Week's $65,000 Reclaim. For FCI's Growth-Hybrid sleeve, the reported chip-complex bear-market crossing reportedly consolidates the reported AI-capex absorption debate from a reported forward-earnings framing into a reported cohort-technical framing — per Bloomberg coverage, reported investors reportedly are testing whether reported AI spending reportedly can keep accelerating, reportedly not whether reported demand reportedly exists. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported Meta reportedly puts its reported Iris AI chip into reported production in September as part of a reported 14GW compute-capacity doubling plan — a reported in-house-silicon signal that reportedly reads across the reported merchant-chip absorption question. For the reported FCI Digital Assets sleeve, the reported weekend Bitcoin trade below reported $65,000 reportedly reflects the reported risk-off rotation composition. Carson's SPY $645.80 support remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Friday's intraday range of $740.80–$747.29 per data drop — no level was reportedly hit. Avoid Erosion.