SECTION 01

Markets — Reported Cooler August PCE Collapses Reported October Hike Odds From Approximately 73% to Approximately 35% per CME FedWatch as Reported 10-Year Yield Reportedly Reaches a Reported 24-Year High and Reported Breadth Reportedly Deteriorates Beneath a Reported Tech-Led Headline Tape

REPORTED AUGUST CORE PCE REPORTEDLY PRINTS 3.0% YOY (APPROXIMATELY 0.3 POINTS BELOW THE REPORTED 3.3% CONSENSUS) AND REPORTED HEADLINE PCE AT 3.4% (APPROXIMATELY 0.4 POINTS BELOW THE REPORTED 3.8% CLEVELAND FED NOWCAST); REPORTED OCTOBER 27–28 HIKE ODDS REPORTEDLY FALL FROM APPROXIMATELY 73% TO APPROXIMATELY 35% PER CME FEDWATCH EVEN AS REPORTED 10-YEAR YIELD REPORTEDLY CLIMBS ABOVE 5.30%

Per Bureau of Economic Analysis coverage of the reported Wednesday 8:30 AM release carried through CNBC and Yahoo Finance, reported August core PCE reportedly printed approximately 3.0% YoY and reportedly 0.2% MoM — reportedly approximately 0.3 points below the reported 3.3% consensus and reportedly approximately 0.1 points below the reported 0.3% monthly estimate — while reported headline PCE reportedly printed approximately 3.4% YoY, reportedly approximately 0.4 points below the reported 3.8% Cleveland Fed nowcast carried through FXStreet. Per CME FedWatch and Seeking Alpha coverage, reported October 27–28 hike odds reportedly collapsed from a reported Tuesday range of approximately 73–77% to approximately 35% for a reported +25 bp move while the reported full-year hike probability reportedly held near 82% per Polymarket, framing a reported path where a reported December move reportedly displaces a reported October move. Per data drop, SPY reportedly closed Wednesday at $762.63 (↓0.21%), DIA at $508.55 (↓0.84%), and QQQ reportedly diverged higher at $739.77 (↑0.25%) — a reported tech-led headline tape sitting against a reported broad-breadth deterioration where reported Staples (XLP) reportedly closed ↓1.53%, reported Healthcare (XLV) ↓1.35%, reported Industrials (XLI) ↓1.27%, and reported Financials (XLF) ↓1.13% as reported 10-year yield reportedly climbed above approximately 5.30% (reportedly a reported 24-year high per Invezz) and TLT reportedly closed at $77.78 (↓0.58%). Per data drop, Carson's active SPY support level at $645.80 (retracement target set April 13) remains untouched, with Wednesday's reported intraday low of $762.18 well above that level.

S&P 500 (SPY, WED)	$762.63 ↓0.21%
NASDAQ (QQQ) / DOW (DIA, WED)	$739.77 ↑0.25% / $508.55 ↓0.84%
10Y YIELD / TLT (WED)	Reportedly ~5.30% 24-yr high per Invezz / $77.78 ↓0.58%
UVXY (VIX PROXY, WED)	$17.27 ↑1.65%
GOLD (GLD) / SILVER (SLV, WED)	$380.84 ↓0.54% / $54.51 ↓1.75%
WTI (USO) / BRENT (BNO, WED)	$145.66 ↑1.61% / $60.09 ↑2.28%
CORE / HEADLINE AUGUST PCE	Reportedly ~3.0% / Reportedly ~3.4% YoY per BEA
FED OCT 27-28 HIKE ODDS	Reportedly ~35% +25 bp (from ~73%) per CME FedWatch

REPORTED MICRON FISCAL Q4 REPORTEDLY PRINTS RECORD REPORTED $54.2B REVENUE (REPORTEDLY ↑379% YOY) AND REPORTED $33.42 ADJUSTED EPS VERSUS REPORTED $31.16 CONSENSUS; REPORTED FISCAL Q1 REPORTEDLY GUIDED TO APPROXIMATELY $61.5B VERSUS APPROXIMATELY $57B CONSENSUS; REPORTED AFTER-HOURS REACTION REPORTEDLY MIXED ON A REPORTED 2027 CAPEX BUILD; REPORTED CHIP DISPERSION REPORTEDLY READS THROUGH THE WEDNESDAY TAPE

Per CNBC, Investing.com, and Yahoo Finance coverage of Micron's reported fiscal fourth-quarter release Wednesday after the close, reported Q4 revenue reportedly printed approximately $54.2 billion (reportedly ↑31% sequentially and reportedly ↑379% YoY), reported adjusted EPS reportedly printed approximately $33.42 versus reported approximately $31.16 consensus, and reported gross margin reportedly reached approximately 87%, with reported fiscal Q1 revenue reportedly guided to approximately $61.5 billion versus reported approximately $57 billion consensus and reported Q1 adjusted EPS reportedly guided to approximately $38.15 versus reported approximately $35.40 consensus. Per Yahoo Finance and Investing.com coverage of the reported after-hours tape, reported MU shares reportedly traded in a reported mixed range as reported investors reportedly weighed the reported record print and reported Q1 guide against a reported hike to reported 2027 capex tied to reported cleanroom construction — a reported capex-versus-revenue tension that historically tends to appear at reported memory-cycle peaks. Per data drop, the reported FCI Growth-Hybrid chip sleeve reportedly closed Wednesday with LRCX ↑1.44% at $328.51, CRDO ↑1.27% at $194.79, KEYS ↑0.94% at $364.04, AMD ↑0.69% at $611.76, NVDA ↑0.51% at $228.38, NXPI ↑0.45% at $237.53, MRVL ↑0.36% at $264.21, TSM ↓0.16% at $456.19, and QCOM near-flat at $184.04. Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed Michael Burry's reported new short against Micron as reportedly expiring June 2027, and per separate data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported AI infrastructure stocks as reportedly on reported retail-investor watch lists. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported Micron record print reportedly reading through the reported AI-memory signal, a reported capex-and-cycle-peak question, a reported bifurcated chip tape with reported semi-cap-equipment leadership, and a reported cooler PCE reportedly displacing a reported October hike into the reported December window — keeps NVDA, AMD, TSM, MRVL, LRCX, KEYS, CRDO, TEL, ADI, NXPI, and QCOM reading through the reported semiconductor supply-chain layer and the reported AI-memory signal into the Thursday setup.

A reported cooler PCE reportedly displacing an October hike into reported December sitting against a reported 10-year yield reportedly reaching a reported 24-year high and a reported Micron record print reportedly reading through the reported AI-memory signal frames a Thursday setup where discipline over impulse tends to serve better than compositing a single directional view into the reported 10:00 AM ISM Manufacturing print. Simplicity over complexity.

Geopolitics — Reported Three Oil Tankers Reportedly Hit by Projectiles in Reported Strait of Hormuz Tuesday per Maersk Reports Carried in Data Drop; Reported Qatari-Mediated Iran-US Diplomatic Track Reportedly Advances; Reported Gulf Exports Reportedly Recover; Reported Flydubai Cockpit Incident Reportedly Prompts Reported Israeli Pilot-Screening Review

REPORTED HORMUZ TANKER INCIDENT REPORTEDLY REASSERTS THE REPORTED PHYSICAL-CRUDE SUPPLY-RISK PREMIUM EVEN AS THE REPORTED DIPLOMATIC CHANNEL REPORTEDLY ADVANCES; REPORTED WTI (USO) REPORTEDLY ↑1.61% TO $145.66 AND REPORTED BRENT (BNO) REPORTEDLY ↑2.28% TO $60.09

Per Reuters coverage carried in the data drop headlines, one piece reportedly framed reported three oil tankers as reportedly hit by reported projectiles in the reported Strait of Hormuz Tuesday per reported Maersk reports, and per separate Reuters coverage carried in the drop, one piece reportedly framed reported oil as reportedly steadying as reported Gulf exports reportedly recover with reported US-Iran diplomacy reportedly in focus. Per data drop, WTI (USO) reportedly closed Wednesday at $145.66 (↑1.61%) and Brent (BNO) reportedly closed at $60.09 (↑2.28%) — a reported reversal higher after Tuesday's reported sharp drawdown that reportedly reasserts the reported physical-crude supply-risk premium even as the reported Qatari-mediated diplomatic channel reportedly advances. Per CNBC and Business Recorder coverage of the reported overnight Thursday tape, reported Brent reportedly held near approximately $60 as reported investors reportedly weighed reported US-Iran peace talks against reported Gulf export recovery and the reported Hormuz incident. Per data drop, CVX reportedly closed near-flat at $204.21 (↓0.08%), OKE reportedly closed ↓1.83% at $85.27, and XLE reportedly closed near-flat at $61.50 (↓0.07%) — a reported energy-sector dispersion despite the reported crude bid. Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed Chevron as reportedly on a reported pipeline-stocks-to-own list. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported Hormuz incident reportedly reasserting the reported supply-risk premium, a reported Qatari diplomatic track reportedly advancing in parallel, a reported Gulf-export recovery reportedly offsetting the reported military overhang, and a reported energy-sector dispersion despite the reported crude bid — keeps CVX, OKE, CNX, LMT, and GD reading through the reported physical-crude signal, the reported sanctions perimeter, and the reported diplomatic gap into the Thursday setup.

REPORTED FLYDUBAI COCKPIT INCIDENT REPORTEDLY PROMPTS REPORTED ISRAELI PILOT-SCREENING REVIEW PER REUTERS; REPORTED NETANYAHU REPORTEDLY COMMITS TO REPORTED INVESTIGATION; REPORTED THREE OIL TANKERS REPORTEDLY STRUCK IN REPORTED HORMUZ PER MAERSK; REPORTED BOEING REPORTEDLY WINS A REPORTED NAVY CONTRACT PER CNBC

Per Reuters coverage carried in the data drop headlines, one piece reportedly framed reported Flydubai passengers as reportedly welcomed at a reported Israeli airport after a reported foiled bid to reportedly crash the reported flight by a reported co-pilot, and per separate Reuters coverage carried in the drop, one piece reportedly framed Prime Minister Netanyahu as reportedly committing to reach the reported root of the reported co-pilot bid. Per additional Reuters coverage carried in the drop, one piece reportedly framed reported Israel as reportedly ramping up reported pilot checks after the reported Flydubai scare, and per data drop headlines, one CNBC piece reportedly framed reported Boeing as reportedly winning a reported Navy contract. Per data drop, LMT reportedly closed Wednesday at $509.25 (↓0.58%) and GD reportedly closed near-flat at $331.83 (↓0.15%), while the reported FCI Dividend industrial sleeve reportedly broke lower with CAT ↓1.92% at $810.79 and PCAR ↓1.78% at $109.81 into the reported broader Industrials weakness (XLI reportedly ↓1.27%). Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed Lockheed Martin as reportedly cheap after a reported 66% run, and per separate data drop holdings news, one SeekingAlpha piece reportedly framed Huntington Ingalls as reportedly able to accelerate reported yard output. For FCI positioning, the composition — a reported Hormuz tanker incident reportedly reading through the reported Persian Gulf supply layer, a reported Flydubai cockpit incident reportedly reading through the reported aviation-security channel, a reported Industrials selloff reportedly reading through the reported breadth signal, and a reported defense-industrial-base read reportedly framing the reported Navy-contract signal — keeps LMT, GD, CVX, OKE, CNX, and NEE reading through the reported physical-crude signal, the reported defense narrative, and the reported cross-asset spillover into the Thursday setup.

On Our Radar

1. Today at 10:00 AM ET — Reported September ISM Manufacturing PMI; Reported Nike (NKE) and Reported Accenture (ACN) Reportedly Report Today; Reported September Nonfarm Payrolls Friday October 2 at 8:30 AM ET. Per ISM release calendar coverage, the reported September ISM Manufacturing PMI is reportedly scheduled Thursday, October 1 at 10:00 AM ET, framing a reported manufacturing read against the reported August prints (reported July PMI reportedly at 55.6% and reported August PMI reportedly at 54.6% per prior ISM releases). Per data drop earnings section, Accenture (ACN) reportedly reports today with reported consensus of approximately $3.21 EPS, Nike (NKE) with reported approximately $0.44 EPS, and Acuity Brands (AYI) with reported approximately $5.62 EPS. Per BLS release calendar coverage, the reported September Employment Situation is reportedly scheduled Friday, October 2 at 8:30 AM ET, framing the reported final major labor-demand read before the reported October 27–28 FOMC decision. For FCI positioning, the composition keeps CAT, PCAR, FAST, GD, LMT, and the reported FCI Dividend industrial sleeve reading through the reported ISM print while the reported rate-sensitive sleeve reads through the reported payrolls signal and the reported October-versus-December Fed-path question.

2. Reported Micron After-Hours Reaction Reportedly Mixed — Reported Record $54.2B Revenue (Reportedly ↑379% YoY) and Reported $33.42 EPS Reportedly Beat Reported $31.16 Consensus; Reported Fiscal Q1 Guided to Approximately $61.5B Versus Approximately $57B Consensus; Reported 2027 Capex Hike Reportedly Weighs on Reported After-Hours Tape per Investing.com and Yahoo Finance. Per CNBC, Investing.com, and Yahoo Finance coverage of the reported Wednesday after-close release, reported MU Q4 revenue reportedly printed approximately $54.2 billion (reportedly ↑379% YoY), reported adjusted EPS reportedly printed approximately $33.42 versus reported approximately $31.16 consensus, and reported fiscal Q1 revenue reportedly guided to approximately $61.5 billion versus reported approximately $57 billion consensus. Per Yahoo Finance coverage of the reported after-hours tape, reported MU shares reportedly traded in a reported mixed range as reported investors reportedly weighed the reported record print against a reported 2027 capex hike reportedly tied to reported cleanroom construction. For FCI positioning — a reported memory-cycle peak-vs-continuation question, a reported chip-sector read-through into reported AMD, NVDA, LRCX, MRVL, CRDO, TSM, KEYS, QCOM — keeps the reported FCI Growth-Hybrid chip sleeve reading through the reported AI-memory signal and the reported capex-versus-revenue tension into the Thursday setup.

3. Reported Utilities Reversal — XLU Reportedly ↓0.68% Wednesday to $39.44 Reversing Tuesday's Reported Leadership; Reported CEG Reportedly ↓3.99% to $254.02 Despite Reported Amazon 20-Year Nuclear PPA Headline per Yahoo Coverage; Reported VST ↓1.76% at $138.35; Reported NEE ↓0.20% at $75.74. Per data drop, the reported Utilities sector (XLU) reportedly reversed Tuesday's reported leadership with a reported ↓0.68% close at $39.44, and the reported FCI utilities-and-AI-power sleeve reportedly broke lower with CEG ↓3.99% at $254.02, VST ↓1.76% at $138.35, NEE ↓0.20% at $75.74, and ATO ↓0.74% at $156.44 as EIX reportedly diverged higher at ↑0.32% to $53.73. Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported Amazon as reportedly signing a reported 20-year nuclear power deal with Constellation reportedly unlocking a reported $3 billion investment to reportedly fuel reported AI-induced electricity demand, and per separate data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported NextEra and reported Dominion as reportedly subject to a reported merger-concerns letter from reported lawmakers. For FCI positioning — a reported sell-the-news CEG reaction against the reported Amazon PPA, a reported utilities sleeve reversal, and a reported AI-data-center-demand read reportedly reasserted by the reported 20-year contract — keeps EIX, VST, CEG, NEE, ATO, and the reported FCI physical-AI-infrastructure sleeve reading through the reported physical-world-matters signal into the Thursday setup.

4. Reported Bitcoin-Miner Rout — HUT Reportedly ↓7.28% Wednesday to $86.10 and MARA Reportedly ↓5.50% to $11.33 per Data Drop; Reported IBIT Reportedly Near-Flat at $47.34 (↑0.02%) and Reported ETHA Reportedly ↓0.79% to $20.12; Reported Robinhood (HOOD) Reportedly ↓3.20% to $112.50 After Reported 24/7 Trading-and-AI-Agents Summit Announcement per Yahoo Coverage. Per data drop, the reported FCI digital-asset-adjacent sleeve reportedly broke lower with HUT ↓7.28% at $86.10, MARA ↓5.50% at $11.33, and HOOD ↓3.20% at $112.50 even as IBIT reportedly closed near-flat at $47.34 (↑0.02%) and ETHA reportedly closed at $20.12 (↓0.79%). Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed Robinhood as reportedly unveiling reported 24/7 trading, reported AI agents, and a reported private-market push at a reported HOOD Summit, and per separate data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed reported crypto ETFs as reportedly adding approximately $2.95 billion over reported 30 days led by reported spot Bitcoin funds. For FCI positioning — a reported miner rout reportedly reading through the reported Bitcoin-leveraged channel while a reported IBIT/ETHA sleeve reportedly holds relatively steady — keeps IBIT and ETHA reading through the reported crypto-ETF signal and the reported duration layer into the Thursday setup.

5. Reported ServiceNow (NOW) Reportedly Leads FCI at ↑3.13% to $134.01 and Reported Fortinet (FTNT) Reportedly Second at ↑1.59% to $178.76 per Data Drop; Reported Enterprise-Software-and-Cybersecurity Signal Reportedly Reads Through the Reported Tech-Led Headline Tape. Per data drop, the reported top-5 FCI movers reportedly read NOW ↑3.13% at $134.01, FTNT ↑1.59% at $178.76, LRCX ↑1.44% at $328.51, CRDO ↑1.27% at $194.79, and KEYS ↑0.94% at $364.04 — a reported enterprise-software-plus-cybersecurity-plus-semi-cap-equipment leadership against the reported broader selloff. Per data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed ServiceNow versus Palantir as reportedly a reported better-buy question in 2026, and per separate data drop holdings news, one Yahoo piece reportedly framed Netskope and reported cybersecurity peers as reportedly on reported stock watch lists. For FCI positioning — a reported NOW-and-FTNT leadership reportedly reading through the reported enterprise-software and reported cybersecurity signals — keeps NOW, FTNT, KEYS, and the reported FCI tech leadership sleeve reading through the reported software-and-security channel into the Thursday setup.

6. Reported CNN Stock Fear & Greed Reportedly Reads Approximately 31 (Fear) per CNN Live Tape; Reported Drop Value at 74 (Greed) Is the Reported Crypto Fallback per CNN Stock Endpoint Failure; Reported UVXY (VIX Proxy) Reportedly ↑1.65% Wednesday to $17.27 per Data Drop. Per CNN Fear & Greed live tape coverage, the reported CNN Stock Market Fear & Greed Index reportedly reads approximately 31 (reportedly Fear) as of the reported Wednesday close, and per data drop, the reported Fear & Greed value of 74 (Greed) reflects the reported crypto fallback after the reported CNN stock endpoint reportedly failed. Per data drop, UVXY (VIX proxy) reportedly closed Wednesday at $17.27 (↑1.65%) into the reported breadth deterioration. For FCI positioning — a reported CNN Stock Fear reading of 31 sitting against a reported crypto-Greed reading of 74 reportedly reads a reported bifurcated sentiment tape into the reported ISM-and-payrolls cluster, and a reported UVXY bid reportedly reads the reported hedging channel — keeps the reported FCI defensive-and-hedging read reading through the reported sentiment layer into the Thursday setup.
