Roadmap Reached

Bürgenstock talks close with a 60-day framework after Trump's Sunday Hormuz threats nearly upend the session; Asian Monday opens constructive while the May PCE print Thursday frames the week.

S&P 500 (THU CLOSE)	BRENT (BNO THU)	BITCOIN (LIVE)	NIKKEI 225 (MON)	FEAR & GREED
$746.74 · ↑0.78%	$43.88 · ↑0.90%	~$65K range · per public feeds	↑~1.9% per CNBC	37 · Fear (CNN Jun 19; drop fell back to Crypto 20)

SECTION 01

Markets — Monday Reopen

THE MONDAY REOPEN CARRIES A THREE-DAY GAP ONTO A CONSTRUCTIVE BÜRGENSTOCK OUTCOME AFTER PRESIDENT TRUMP'S SUNDAY THREATS REPORTEDLY NEARLY STALLED THE SESSION, WITH PER CNBC AND NPR COVERAGE U.S.-IRAN NEGOTIATORS REPORTEDLY CONCLUDING FIRST-ROUND TALKS WITH A 60-DAY ROADMAP TOWARD A FINAL DEAL — PER STOCKTWITS COVERAGE OF SUNDAY EVENING FUTURES, S&P 500 FUTURES WERE REPORTEDLY OFF APPROXIMATELY 0.21% LATE SUNDAY BEFORE ASIAN MARKETS REPORTEDLY OPENED HIGHER MONDAY WITH JAPAN'S NIKKEI 225 REPORTEDLY TRADING APPROXIMATELY 1.9% HIGHER

Per the data drop, Thursday's holiday-eve session closed with the Nasdaq proxy at $740.62 (↑2.51%) and the S&P 500 proxy at $746.74 (↑0.78%) on the chip-led recovery from the post-FOMC drawdown. Friday's Juneteenth closure left two unresolved variables — the Saturday Iran Hormuz statement and the Sunday Bürgenstock outcome — into a single Monday inflection point. Per Reuters via the data drop's headline run, the first round of high-level talks reportedly concluded with mediators Pakistan and Qatar issuing a joint statement reportedly citing encouraging progress and a roadmap toward a final agreement within 60 days, alongside the establishment of a High Level Committee with working groups on nuclear, sanctions, and monitoring. Per Stocktwits coverage of Sunday evening U.S. futures, S&P 500 futures reportedly fell approximately 0.21% as of 9:24 PM ET Sunday on the Trump threat-language backdrop, before Asian sessions reportedly turned constructive Monday on the talks progress headlines.

S&P 500 (THU CLOSE)	$746.74 · ↑0.78% on day
NASDAQ (THU CLOSE)	$740.62 · ↑2.51% on day
SUN PM S&P FUTURES	↓~0.21% per Stocktwits coverage of 9:24 PM ET print
NIKKEI 225 (MON)	↑~1.96% per CNBC Asia Markets Today
BÜRGENSTOCK ROADMAP	60-day window per joint mediator statement
HIGH LEVEL COMMITTEE	Nuclear, sanctions, monitoring working groups per Reuters
2026 MEDIAN DOT	3.8% · up from 3.4% in March per Fed SEP

PER REUTERS COVERAGE VIA THE DATA DROP'S HEADLINE RUN, ASIAN STOCKS REPORTEDLY GAINED AND OIL SLIPPED ON THE IRAN TALKS PROGRESS — FOR FCI'S GROWTH BOOK, THE THURSDAY CHIP-COHORT RECOVERY LAYERS ONTO A MONDAY TAPE THAT MAY REPRICE THE AI-INFRASTRUCTURE BACKBONE CONSTRUCTIVELY IF THE BÜRGENSTOCK HEADLINES HOLD THROUGH THE U.S. OPEN, WHILE THE ENERGY SLEEVE CARRIES THE INVERSE READ OF EASING BRENT RISK IF THE STRAIT STATEMENT IS READ AS POSTURING AGAINST THE CONCLUDED TALKS

Per CNBC coverage cited via the data drop, the 2-year Treasury yield rose by more than 14 basis points Wednesday on the SEP release before partially retracing Thursday, while TLT closed Thursday at $86.75 (↑0.49% per the data drop). The chip rip into Thursday's close — CRDO ↑9.02%, MRVL ↑7.27%, TSM ↑6.94%, QCOM ↑6.17%, NXPI ↑5.05%, AMD ↑4.86%, ADI ↑4.83%, LRCX ↑3.97% per the data drop — carries Lam Research's reported AI-fueled beat and raised chip-equipment outlook per Yahoo coverage cited in the data drop's LRCX news run as the principal validating print into Wednesday's Micron event. For the digital sleeve, IBIT closed Thursday at $35.62 (↓2.04%) and ETHA at $12.88 (↓1.45%) per the data drop, with Bitcoin reportedly trading in the mid-$60K range across the weekend per public exchange feeds. The CNN stock-market Fear & Greed reportedly registered 37 ("Fear") on the most recent June 19 read per CNN's historical data feed; the data drop's F&G again fell back to the crypto index at 20 ("Extreme Fear") per the workflow fallback. The setup heading into the U.S. open is constructive on the talks-progress headline but carries meaningful tail risk from any further Trump escalation in social-media posts through the morning.

A 60-day roadmap closes the weekend talks despite Sunday threat-language drama — the Monday tape carries the chip-led backbone into the May PCE print Thursday. Avoid Erosion.

Geopolitics — Roadmap Holds, Hormuz Contested

PER REUTERS, NBC NEWS, FOX NEWS, NPR, AL JAZEERA, AND CBS NEWS COVERAGE ACROSS SUNDAY, VICE PRESIDENT JD VANCE REPORTEDLY LED THE U.S. DELEGATION THROUGH HOURS OF TALKS AT THE BÜRGENSTOCK RESORT ALONGSIDE SPECIAL ENVOY STEVE WITKOFF AND ADVISER JARED KUSHNER — PER THE JOINT STATEMENT FROM MEDIATORS PAKISTAN AND QATAR CITED VIA MULTIPLE OUTLETS, THE PARTIES REPORTEDLY AGREED TO ESTABLISH A HIGH LEVEL COMMITTEE TO PROVIDE POLITICAL OVERSIGHT ON THE MEDIATION, WITH WORKING GROUPS FOCUSED ON NUCLEAR, SANCTIONS, AND A MONITORING AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION GROUP, AND A ROADMAP TOWARD REACHING A FINAL DEAL WITHIN 60 DAYS — PER WASHINGTON TIMES, NPR, AND CBS NEWS COVERAGE, PRESIDENT TRUMP REPORTEDLY THREATENED ON SUNDAY VIA SOCIAL MEDIA THAT THE U.S. WOULD STRIKE IRAN AGAIN, REPORTEDLY HARDER THAN THE PRIOR ACTION, IF TEHRAN DOES NOT RESTRAIN HEZBOLLAH IN LEBANON, WITH THE THREAT LANDING AGAINST THE BROADER HORMUZ-CLOSURE BACKDROP FROM TEHRAN'S SATURDAY STATEMENT, REPORTEDLY DRAWING A RESPONSE FROM IRAN'S NEGOTIATING TEAM CAUTIONING THAT IRANIAN ARMED FORCES STAND READY TO RESPOND

For FCI's energy and defense sleeves, the weekend produced a high-drama but ultimately constructive resolution to the position-symmetric framework Carson has anchored: per CNBC Asia Markets Today coverage, Asian equities reportedly opened higher Monday with oil reportedly slipping on the talks-progress headline, while the U.S. Sunday evening session reportedly weakened modestly on Trump's threat language before sentiment reportedly improved into Asia. Per Reuters via the data drop's headline run, Qatar reportedly brought LNG tankers into Hormuz despite the shipping slowdown, and Indian shares reportedly rose on Mideast peace hopes. For DVN ($42.12, ↓1.08% Thu per the data drop), CVX ($173.63, ↓2.22% Thu), VLO ($236.30, ↓1.45% Thu), OKE ($85.03, ↓0.64% Thu), and CNX ($32.67, ↓0.52% Thu), Thursday's drift lower had already begun pricing the Brent-compression scenario; the talks-progress headlines would extend that scenario unless Trump's Sunday escalation produces a follow-on action through the morning. The physical world matters.

PER TIMES OF ISRAEL AND PBS COVERAGE ACROSS SUNDAY, THE ISRAEL-HEZBOLLAH CEASEFIRE REPORTEDLY CONTINUES TO HOLD DESPITE CONTINUED LOCALIZED CLASHES — PER TIMES OF ISRAEL LIVE COVERAGE OF JUNE 21, PRIME MINISTER NETANYAHU AND DEFENSE MINISTER KATZ REPORTEDLY ORDERED THE IDF TO STAY PUT IN OCCUPIED LEBANESE TERRITORIES AND TO HOLD FIRE EVERYWHERE ASIDE FROM ALI AL-TAHER HILL, WHILE THE IDF HOME FRONT COMMAND REPORTEDLY LIFTED ALL RESTRICTIONS ON COMMUNITIES NEAR THE LEBANON BORDER — THE LEBANON-SPILOVER VARIABLE THAT REPORTEDLY TRIGGERED THE FRIDAY BÜRGENSTOCK POSTPONEMENT PER EARLIER COVERAGE HAS REPORTEDLY STABILIZED WITHOUT BECOMING THE HEADLINE TRUMP SOUGHT TO MAKE OF IT

Thursday's defense drawdown per the data drop — LMT ↓4.01% to $510.95 and GD ↓3.53% to $350.01 — reflected the peace-deal reciprocal trade; the position-symmetric framework Carson has anchored remains intact through the talks-progress outcome. Per the data drop's LMT news run, Yahoo coverage reportedly framed the defense complex against the SpaceX IPO backdrop, while the reported Pentagon supplemental request for approximately $80 billion per WSJ via Reuters from prior coverage carries through the production-funding pipeline regardless of the deal-execution headline path. For the committee, the operative read into Monday is that the talks-progress outcome reduces near-term escalation risk while preserving the supplemental-funding backbone — the cohort's long-cycle backlog framework reportedly continues independent of the peace-deal sentiment vector. The physical world matters.

BÜRGENSTOCK OUTCOME	60-day roadmap per joint Pakistan/Qatar statement
HIGH LEVEL COMMITTEE	Nuclear, sanctions, monitoring working groups per Reuters
TRUMP SUNDAY POSTS	Threat to strike Iran harder than prior action on Hezbollah per NPR/CBS
IRAN NEGOTIATOR RESPONSE	Reportedly cautioned forces stand ready to respond per NBC
HORMUZ SHIPPING	Qatar LNG tankers reportedly transiting per Reuters · flows constrained
ISRAEL-LEBANON	Ceasefire reportedly holding per Times of Israel Sunday coverage
PENTAGON SUPPLEMENTAL	~$80B request reportedly continues per WSJ via Reuters

On Our Radar

1. May PCE Lands Thursday June 25 at 8:30 AM ET per the BEA Personal Income and Outlays Release Calendar — the First Major Inflation Print of the Warsh Era After the June 17 Hawkish Dot-Plot Revision. Per the Bureau of Economic Analysis release schedule, the May 2026 read covers headline and core PCE alongside the final Q1 2026 GDP estimate. Per Wells Fargo's economist preview cited in Kiplinger's week-ahead coverage, headline PCE is reportedly forecast at $\uparrow 0.5\%$ month-over-month (4.1% year-over-year) on energy-related costs, with core PCE reportedly forecast at $\uparrow 0.3\%$ month-over-month within a 3.3% – 3.4% year-over-year band. Per Business Standard coverage of Fed projections, the June SEP reportedly lifted projected year-end 2026 PCE to 3.6% ; given Chair Warsh has reportedly argued that supply-shock inflation should generally be looked through in policy formation per Bondsavvy and REX Shares coverage, the Thursday print is the principal cross-asset variable for FCI's rate-sensitive sleeves (TLT, the AI-infrastructure growth backbone, IBIT, ETHA) into next week. Avoid Erosion.

2. Earnings Calendar — FedEx (FDX) Reports Q4 Fiscal 2026 Tuesday June 23 After the Close per TradingKey, With Micron (MU) Wednesday June 24 After the Close per Multiple Previews. Per TradingKey preview coverage, FedEx analyst consensus is reportedly approximately $5.91 EPS on approximately $24.18 billion revenue for its first quarter since the June 1 FedEx Freight (FDXF) spinoff, with the Network 2.0 cost-savings program, FY2027 guidance, and the 19.9% retained FDXF stake reportedly framing the read on global goods flows. Per TradingKey, Tech Times, and Crypto Briefing preview coverage, Micron consensus is reportedly approximately $19.72–$19.82 EPS on revenue of approximately $34.5–$34.8 billion, with HBM capacity reportedly sold out through 2026 under binding contracts; the print is the principal AI-infrastructure validation for the cohort the Thursday chip rip lifted (CRDO, MRVL, TSM, QCOM, NXPI, AMD, LRCX per the data drop), particularly on HBM4 visibility into Nvidia's Vera Rubin architecture. Research Reveals Opportunities.

3. The Hormuz Statement-Versus-Roadmap Tension Is the Single Most Important Macro Variable for the Monday Tape.

Per Reuters via the data drop's headline run, Asian stocks reportedly gained and oil reportedly slipped on the talks-progress headlines, with Qatar reportedly transiting LNG tankers despite the shipping slowdown. Per CSIS and trade-press tracking, traffic through the Strait reportedly remains a fraction of pre-crisis volume even after the U.S.-Iran interim peace took effect, with insurance markets reportedly continuing to price elevated war-risk premiums. For FCI's energy sleeve, the operative read is that the roadmap outcome reduces the discrete escalation risk that drove Thursday's defense move, while any further Trump escalation in social-media posts through the morning could reprice the Brent compression scenario in reverse. The position-symmetric framework remains operative: DVN, CVX, OKE, VLO, CNX carry through the talks-progress scenario alongside cash-flow durability; LMT and GD carry through the reported supplemental-funding pipeline through either path. Think Like an Owner.

4. Carson's Active SPY $645.80 Support Remains

Materially Untouched Through the Thursday Close. The Thursday S&P 500 proxy intraday range ($743.86–$748.23 per the data drop) carried well above Carson's framework, leaving the level as the committee's downside reference rather than an actionable near-term marker. With Friday closed for Juneteenth and Sunday futures reportedly opening modestly weaker before Asian markets turned higher, the Monday gap-risk skews constructive but the level remains the committee's anchor through the PCE print Thursday and the Micron release Wednesday. The CNN stock-market Fear & Greed reportedly registered 37 ("Fear") on the June 19 read per CNN's historical data feed; the data drop's F&G again fell back to the crypto index at 20 ("Extreme Fear") per the workflow note. Simplicity Over Complexity.

5. The Digital Sleeve Carries Bitcoin's Weekend Tape and the Coinbase Product Cadence Into a Constructive Talks-Progress Open.

Per the data drop, IBIT closed Thursday at $35.62 (↓2.04%) and ETHA at $12.88 (↓1.45%), with COIN at $163.26 (↓1.00%); Bitcoin reportedly traded in the mid-$60K range across the weekend per public exchange feeds. Per the data drop's COIN news run, Coinbase reportedly continues to extend the "everything exchange" framework with new product launches, with BlackRock COO Rob Goldstein reportedly framing tokenization as the next evolution of financial market infrastructure per SeekingAlpha coverage. For HOOD ($108.15, ↑2.80% Thursday per the data drop), the digital-rails framework reportedly carries the structural relative-strength alongside the talks-progress sentiment improvement. Research Reveals Opportunities.
