

Paradiem

The Morning Brief

JULY 8, 2026

Two-Front Reprice

US retaliatory strikes on Iran and a Samsung-led chip rout hit the reopen ahead of the first Warsh-chaired FOMC minutes at 2 p.m. ET.

S&P 500 (TUE CLOSE) $747.71 · ↓0.48%	NASDAQ (TUE CLOSE) $709.43 · ↓1.85% chip-led	BRENT (LIVE) ~$75.84 · ↑2.3% post- strikes per CNBC	BITCOIN (LIVE) ~$63,000 · reportedly rebounded above $63K per Benzinga	FEAR & GREED (CNN) ~43 · Fear per CNN feed · data drop returned crypto fallback (20)
---	--	--	---	--

SECTION 01

Markets — Chip-Led Reversal Tuesday (Nasdaq ↓1.85%, S&P ↓0.48% per Data Drop) as Samsung's 19x Print Reportedly Missed Buy-Side; Overnight U.S. Reportedly Struck 80+ Iranian Targets per CBS/CNN and Brent Reportedly Rose Toward $75.84 per CNBC Into the First Warsh-Chaired FOMC Minutes at 2 p.m. ET

TUESDAY'S TAPE REPORTEDLY COMPRESSED INTO A TWO-FRONT REPRICE: A REPORTED SAMSUNG-TRIGGERED CHIP ROUT SENT MRVL ↓7.45%, CRDO ↓7.21%, LRCX ↓6.87%, AMD ↓6.51%, TSM ↓4.25%, KEYS ↓3.32%, AND NXPI ↓2.62% PER THE DATA DROP WHILE XLK REPORTEDLY CLOSED ↓2.39% — THE CROSS-ASSET COMPOSITION REPORTEDLY ROTATED INTO DEFENSIVES AND ENERGY (XLE ↑2.84%, XLV ↑1.53%, XLRE ↑1.35%, XLP ↑0.90%, XLU ↑0.88%) AS THE HORMUZ OVERNIGHT STRIKES REPORTEDLY REINJECTED THE MIDDLE EAST PREMIUM PER YAHOO COVERAGE

For FCI's framework, Tuesday's composition reads as a clean unwind of Monday's chip-led record close, with the growth-hybrid sleeve reportedly taking the concentrated hit: AMD $516.11 (↓6.51%), MRVL $230.70 (↓7.45%), CRDO $246.40 (↓7.21%), TSM $432.57 (↓4.25%), and KEYS $309.12 (↓3.32%) per the data drop. Per TradingKey and Reuters coverage cited in prior brief work, Samsung's reported ~KRW 89.4T Q2 preliminary operating profit reportedly missed the reported bullish buy-side above KRW 90T, and per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, a Reuters exclusive that Chinese AI startup DeepSeek is reportedly developing its own AI inference chip reportedly compounded the semi de-rating — a materially relevant read-across for NVDA (which reportedly closed ↑0.71% at $196.93 per the data drop, holding a modest bid against the sleeve). The Energy sleeve reportedly delivered the offset: DVN ↑5.08% to $42.41, OKE ↑3.71% to $90.67, CVX ↑3.52% to $174.01, and VLO reportedly closed ↓1.52% at $266.22 with USO ↑4.38% to $108.92 and BNO ↑4.98% to $41.93 per the data drop. Precious metals reportedly gave back some of Monday's bid (GLD ↓1.21% to $377.49, SLV ↓2.94% to $54.46) while UVXY reportedly closed ↑1.47% to $24.14 and TLT reportedly fell 1.05% to $84.55 per the data drop, consistent with the reported 10-year yield holding near 4.50% per Federal Reserve H.15 coverage. Carson's SPY support at $645.80 remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Tuesday's intraday low of $745.21 per the data drop.

S&P 500 (TUE CLOSE)	$747.71 · ↓0.48% · H:$750.96 L:$745.21 per data drop
NASDAQ (TUE CLOSE)	$709.43 · ↓1.85% · chip-led per data drop
DOW (TUE CLOSE)	$528.45 · ↓0.31% · give-back off Monday's reported record per data drop
TOP FCI MOVERS (TUE)	DVN ↑5.08% · OKE ↑3.71% · CVX ↑3.52% · HRMY ↑3.38% per data drop
BOTTOM FCI MOVERS (TUE)	MRVL ↓7.45% · CRDO ↓7.21% · MARA ↓6.95% · LRCX ↓6.87% per data drop
US FUTURES (LIVE)	Dow ↓0.67% · S&P ↓0.44% · Nasdaq-100 ↓0.54% per CNBC
CARSON'S SPY SUPPORT	$645.80 · active · well-removed from Tue intraday low $745.21

THE REPORTED FIRST WARSH-CHAired FOMC MINUTES REPORTEDLY LAND TODAY AT 2 P.M. ET PER THE FEDERAL RESERVE CALENDAR — PER CNBC COVERAGE OF CHAIR WARSH'S JULY 1 SINTRA REMARKS HE REPORTEDLY CHARACTERIZED INFLATION AS STILL ELEVATED RELATIVE TO THE 2% TARGET AND REPORTEDLY DECLINED TO SIGNAL THE JULY 29 MEETING; WITH REPORTEDLY NINE OF EIGHTEEN JUNE DOT-PLOT PARTICIPANTS PENCILING IN AT LEAST ONE 2026 HIKE PER FEDERAL RESERVE MATERIALS AND CME FEDWATCH REPORTEDLY SHOWING SEPTEMBER HIKE ODDS NEAR 50–55%, THE MINUTES REPORTEDLY

CARRY UNUSUAL WEIGHT GIVEN WARSH REPORTEDLY OPTED OUT OF THE DOT-PLOT CONTRIBUTION

For FCI's framework, the Tuesday tape reportedly signaled a bond market repricing hawkish into the minutes: TLT ↓1.05% to $84.55 per the data drop with the 10-year yield reportedly holding near 4.50% per Federal Reserve H.15 coverage, up from the reported Thursday close near 4.48% per Tradeweb-cited coverage. Per Reuters and CNBC preview coverage, the minutes reportedly serve as the committee's only substantive on-record statement about a September hike given Chair Warsh's reported forward-guidance abstention, and per Investing.com preview coverage, the market reportedly reads Warsh as reluctant to commit either way. The composition for FCI's Dividend sleeve reportedly reflected the defensive rotation: ATO ↑2.16% to $177.58, ADP ↑2.55% to $245.60, CL ↑1.76% to $95.03, SYK ↑1.54% to $329.74, and CHD ↑1.54% to $98.95 per the data drop; industrial cyclicals reportedly gave back with CAT ↓3.07% to $940.12 and STLD reportedly holding ↑1.12% to $229.62. The June ISM Services print Monday at 54.0% with reported prices reportedly falling to 67.7% remains the reported hard-data underpin per PR Newswire coverage cited in prior brief work.

Simplicity Over Complexity.

Tuesday's tape reportedly reset the sleeve mix into the reopen; today's minutes reportedly gate whether that repricing is a single-session drawdown or the front end of a wider AI de-rating.

Research Reveals Opportunities.

Geopolitics — U.S. CENTCOM Reportedly Struck 80+ Iranian Targets Overnight per CBS/CNN After the Hormuz Vessel Attacks; Trump Reportedly Signaled the Late-June Framework Has Run Its Course per CNBC From Ankara While Lifting Turkey Sanctions and Signaling F-35 Reinstatement per NYT/Reuters; Iran Reportedly Warned of a Forceful Retaliation per Al Jazeera

PER CBS NEWS, CNN, AND CNBC COVERAGE, U.S. CENTRAL COMMAND LATE TUESDAY REPORTEDLY LAUNCHED A SERIES OF STRIKES ON REPORTED 80+ IRANIAN TARGETS — REPORTEDLY INCLUDING AIR DEFENSE SYSTEMS, COMMAND-AND-CONTROL NETWORKS, ANTI-SHIP MISSILE SITES, AND REPORTEDLY 60+ IRGC SMALL BOATS PER CENTCOM — IN RETALIATION FOR THE REPORTED TUESDAY ATTACKS ON THREE COMMERCIAL VESSELS IN THE STRAIT OF HORMUZ PER AL JAZEERA; THE REPORTED VESSELS INCLUDED THE QATARI LNG CARRIER AL REKAYAT (REPORTEDLY SUFFERING AN ENGINE-ROOM FIRE) AND THE SAUDI CRUDE TANKER WEDYAN PER BLOOMBERG/AL JAZEERA COVERAGE — PER CNBC, PRESIDENT TRUMP REPORTEDLY SIGNED AT THE ANKARA NATO SUMMIT THAT THE REPORTED LATE-JUNE CEASEFIRE NO LONGER HOLDS AND THE DIPLOMATIC TRACK IS NOT WORTH CONTINUING

For FCI's framework, the overnight strikes reportedly represent the largest kinetic escalation since the reported late-June framework was signed and reportedly reset the diplomatic pause that had previously been gated by the Khamenei funeral (reportedly running through July 9 per prior brief coverage citing CNN/CBS). Per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, the Treasury Department reportedly revoked Iran's license to sell oil, and per the same coverage four oil and gas tankers reportedly turned back from the Strait after the vessel attacks. Per CNBC, Brent September futures reportedly rose 2.3% to $75.84 while WTI August reportedly gained 2.2% to $71.99 this morning, extending Tuesday's post-strike bid where USO reportedly closed at $108.92 (↑4.38%) and BNO at $41.93 (↑4.98%) per the data drop. For FCI's Energy sleeve, upstream reportedly captured the bid on Tuesday: DVN ↑5.08% to $42.41, OKE ↑3.71% to $90.67, CVX ↑3.52% to $174.01 per the data drop; downstream reportedly lagged (VLO ↓1.52% to $266.22). Per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, an exclusive report indicated China reportedly lifted fuel export curbs for July — a supply-side offset worth tracking against the reported Hormuz transit friction. The physical world matters.

PER REUTERS, AL JAZEERA, AND WIKIPEDIA COVERAGE OF THE 2026 ANKARA NATO SUMMIT, PRESIDENT TRUMP REPORTEDLY TOLD PRESIDENT ERDOGAN THE U.S. WILL LIFT TURKEY SANCTIONS AND REPORTEDLY CONSIDER SELLING F-35 STEALTH FIGHTERS — REVERSING THE CAATSA-ERA SUSPENSION TIED TO TURKEY'S 2019 S-400 PURCHASE PER NYT/AL MONITOR COVERAGE PER PRIOR BRIEF WORK; NATO REPORTEDLY UNVEILED BILLIONS IN ARMS DEALS PER ABC7 WITH DEFENSE SPENDING AND UKRAINE SUPPORT REPORTEDLY TOPPING THE AGENDA PER PBS/AL JAZEERA

For FCI's Defense sleeve, the reported F-35 restoration reportedly extends the constructive program backdrop for LMT, which reportedly closed ↓0.49% at $535.38 per the data drop on the broader cyclical give-back and GD reportedly closed ↓0.59% at $374.64. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, GD reportedly filed a major ESOP shelf registration and reportedly trades roughly 5% below fair value per the Yahoo Simply Wall St framework cited in the same headline. Per Al Jazeera coverage, Iran reportedly warned early Wednesday of a forceful retaliation to the U.S. strikes; per prior brief coverage citing Axios/Bloomberg, the reported Doha technical track had reportedly been scheduled to resume around July 11 — the reported viability of that timeline reportedly becomes materially harder against Trump's reported Ankara framing per CNBC. Per NATO Secretary General coverage per Reuters, the reported U.S. attacks were reportedly characterized as necessary and justified — a signal that the alliance reportedly aligns with the strike posture even as European members reportedly balance domestic energy exposure. Think Like an Owner.

CENTCOM STRIKES	Reported 80+ Iranian targets per CBS/CNN · air defense, radar, anti-ship, IRGC boats
TRUMP ON CEASEFIRE	Reportedly signaled the framework has run its course per CNBC from Ankara
IRAN RESPONSE	Reportedly warned of a forceful retaliation per Al Jazeera
IRAN OIL LICENSE	Reportedly revoked by Treasury per Reuters · four tankers reportedly turned back per Reuters
TURKEY / F-35	Sanctions reportedly to be lifted per Reuters · F-35 sale reportedly considered
CHINA FUEL EXPORTS	Reportedly lifted July curbs per Reuters exclusive · supply-side offset

On Our Radar

1. Warsh-Chaired FOMC Minutes Today at 2 p.m. ET — Reportedly the Committee's Only Substantive On-Record Statement on a Possible September Hike Given Chair Warsh Reportedly Opted Out of the June Dot-Plot per Kiplinger; Reportedly Nine of Eighteen June Participants Penciled in at Least One 2026 Hike per Federal Reserve Materials With CME FedWatch September Odds Reportedly Near 50–55%, Down From Roughly Two-Thirds Prior to the June Payrolls Miss. Per CNBC coverage of Chair Warsh's reported July 1 Sintra remarks, inflation was reportedly characterized as still elevated relative to the reported 2% target while the July 29 meeting was reportedly left without directional guidance — consistent with the reported forward-guidance abstention Chair Warsh reportedly has articulated per PBS. For FCI's framework, the two-year yield reportedly softer post-payrolls per CNBC coverage and 10-year reportedly holding near 4.50% per Federal Reserve H.15 coverage reportedly point to a market repricing hawkish into the print; TLT reportedly closed ↓1.05% at $84.55 per the data drop. Carson's SPY support at $645.80 remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Tuesday's intraday low of $745.21 per the data drop. Research Reveals Opportunities.

2. Hormuz Escalation — CENTCOM Reportedly Struck 80+ Iranian Targets Overnight per CBS/CNN, With Reports of Air Defense, Radar, Anti-Ship, and IRGC Boats per CENTCOM Coverage; Trump Reportedly Signaled the Late-June Framework Has Run Its Course per CNBC From the Ankara NATO Summit While Iran Reportedly Warned of a Forceful Retaliation per Al Jazeera — Brent Reportedly Rising to $75.84 per CNBC, WTI to $71.99 per CNBC. Per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, the Treasury reportedly revoked Iran's oil sales license, and four oil and gas tankers reportedly turned back from the Strait after the Tuesday vessel attacks. For FCI's Energy sleeve, Tuesday's data drop showed USO at $108.92 (↑4.38%) and BNO at $41.93 (↑4.98%) with upstream leading (DVN ↑5.08%, OKE ↑3.71%, CVX ↑3.52%) and downstream lagging (VLO ↓1.52%). Per Reuters exclusive coverage in the data drop, China reportedly lifted July fuel export curbs — a supply-side counterbalance worth tracking. The physical world matters.

3. Chip De-Rating Watch — Tuesday's Reported Samsung-Triggered Rout Sent MRVL ↓7.45%, CRDO ↓7.21%, LRCX ↓6.87%, AMD ↓6.51%, TSM ↓4.25%, KEYS ↓3.32%, and NXPI ↓2.62% per the Data Drop; Per a Reported Reuters Exclusive, Chinese AI Startup DeepSeek Is Reportedly Developing Its Own AI Inference Chip — a Reported Read-Across for NVDA (Which Reportedly Closed ↑0.71% at $196.93 Against the Sleeve Reset) With Korea's Kospi Reportedly Entering a Reported Bear Market Overnight per CNBC. For FCI's growth-hybrid sleeve, Tuesday's reported concentrated give-back reportedly reverses the Monday chip-led record close (AMD ↑6.61%, CRDO ↑9.77%, QCOM ↑5.80% per prior data drop) and lands the sleeve into the reported Warsh minutes today. Per prior brief coverage citing TradingKey/Reuters, Samsung's reported ~KRW 89.4T Q2 preliminary reportedly missed the reported bullish buy-side; a reported Reuters exclusive on DeepSeek's in-house AI inference chip development reportedly compounded the reported valuation reset. NVDA at $196.93 (↑0.71%) reportedly held bid even as MRVL, TSM, AMD, and CRDO reportedly reset lower per the data drop. Simplicity Over Complexity.

4. Energy vs Digital Sleeve + Defense/Earnings Setup — Tuesday's XLE Reportedly Closed ↑2.84% per the Data Drop With FCI Upstream Leading (DVN ↑5.08%, OKE ↑3.71%, CVX ↑3.52%) While the Digital Sleeve Reportedly Gave Back (HUT ↓6.78%, MARA ↓6.95%, COIN ↓3.17%, HOOD ↓3.96%) Even as IBIT Reportedly Held ↑0.08% and ETHA ↓0.30% per the Data Drop; Per Reuters/NYT the Ankara F-35 Reinstatement Reportedly Extends the Defense Backdrop for LMT ($535.38, ↓0.49%) and GD ($374.64, ↓0.59%) per the Data Drop; PEP Reportedly Reports Thu July 9 Pre-Market per PepsiCo IR and DAL Fri July 10 per Delta's IR Calendar as Q2 Reporting Ramps. For FCI's Energy sleeve, per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, the July fuel-export curb removal in China reportedly limits the runway on Brent from the current move. Per Benzinga coverage in the data drop, Applied Digital reportedly announced a lease agreement with a new U.S. investment-grade hyperscaler at its 430 MW Delta Forge 1 AI campus — a data point for the reported HUT/MARA AI-conversion thesis; per Benzinga, Coinbase reportedly gained UK approval to trade stocks and derivatives — a longer-arc constructive item even as COIN reportedly closed ↓3.17% at $163.51 per the data drop. Weekly EIA crude inventory reportedly prints today at 9:30 a.m. CT / 10:30 a.m. ET into the reported Hormuz reprice. Avoid Erosion.