

Paradiem

The Morning Brief

JULY 15, 2026

CPI Cools

Soft June CPI drove Fed cut repricing and a chip-led rebound; ASML pre-market print now anchors the AI-capex read.

S&P 500 (TUE CLOSE)	NASDAQ (TUE CLOSE)	BRENT (WED PRE-OPEN)	BITCOIN PROXY (IBIT TUE)	FEAR & GREED
$751.83 · ↑0.36%	$719.69 · ↑1.12%	~$85.31 · ↑0.68% per CNBC	$36.58 · ↑3.86%	CNN 43 Fear per CNN · data drop returned crypto fallback (25)

SECTION 01

Markets — June CPI Prints ↓0.4% M/M and Resets Fed Path; Chip Complex Rebounds With LRCX ↑4.90% and NVDA ↑4.06%; ASML Pre-Market Print Now Anchors the AI-Capex Read

TUESDAY’S TAPE DELIVERED THE RESET THE CPI-WARSH-BANKS COMPRESSION FRAMED: JUNE CPI REPORTEDLY PRINTED ↓0.4% M/M AND ↑3.5% ANNUAL PER BLS RELEASE, WITH REPORTED CORE FLAT M/M AND 2.6% ANNUAL — REPORTEDLY THE LARGEST MONTHLY DECLINE SINCE APRIL 2020 PER CNBC COVERAGE OF THE BLS RELEASE; THE S&P 500 REPORTEDLY CLOSED AT $751.83 (↑0.36%) AND NASDAQ AT $719.69 (↑1.12%) PER DATA DROP; REPORTED FED HIKE ODDS FOR JULY REPORTEDLY FELL TO 17% FROM 42% A DAY EARLIER PER CNBC COVERAGE OF POST-CPI POSITIONING; TECH (XLK) REPORTEDLY LED AT ↑1.29% WHILE HEALTHCARE (XLV) REPORTEDLY FELL ↓1.93% PER DATA DROP

For FCI’s framework, Tuesday’s composition reportedly delivered the reset that Monday’s AI-capex de-rating framed: LRCX reportedly recovered ↑4.90% to $346.10 per data drop after Monday’s reported ↓5.83% give-back, NVDA reportedly closed at $211.80 (↑4.06%) reversing Monday’s reported ↓3.52%, and MRVL reportedly recovered ↑2.26% to $222.44 after Monday’s reported ↓7.75% dislocation. Per CNBC and Motley Fool coverage of the BLS release, reported energy prices reportedly fell 5.7% in June, more than offsetting the reported shelter and food increases — a composition read that reportedly frames Warsh’s Tuesday testimony as forward-looking rather than backward-looking given the reported crude repricing since the reported CPI reference window. Reported bank prints reportedly beat consensus across the board: JPM at $6.14 vs. $5.85 per LSEG consensus per FX Leaders coverage (a reported ↑41% Y/Y profit gain with reported equity-markets revenue ↑86% to $6.0B), GS at $20.98 diluted EPS per Goldman’s press release (reportedly nearly double year-ago per Goldman IR, with reported net revenues ↑39% Y/Y to $20.34B), and WFC at $2.00 EPS on $22.6B revenue per Wells Fargo’s press release. Overnight per CNBC coverage, S&P futures traded ↑0.2% and Nasdaq futures ↑0.6% into Wednesday’s pre-open. Carson’s SPY $645.80 support remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Tuesday’s intraday range of $748.66–$753.34 per data drop — no level was reportedly hit.

S&P 500 (TUE)	$751.83 · ↑0.36% · L:$748.66 H:$753.34 per data drop
NASDAQ (TUE)	$719.69 · ↑1.12% per data drop
SECTOR LEADER (TUE)	Tech (XLK) ↑1.29% per data drop
SECTOR LAGGARD (TUE)	Healthcare (XLV) ↓1.93% per data drop
JUNE CPI (BLS)	↓0.4% M/M · ↑3.5% Y/Y · Core flat/2.6% Y/Y per BLS/CNBC
FED HIKE ODDS (JUL)	17% Tue · from 42% Mon per CNBC
BRENT (WED PRE-OPEN)	~$85.31 · ↑0.68% per CNBC
S&P FUTURES (WED PRE-OPEN)	↑0.2% per CNBC
CARSON'S SPY SUPPORT	$645.80 active · far from Tue range $748.66–$753.34

WARSH'S FIRST CONGRESSIONAL TESTIMONY REPORTEDLY FRAMED THE SOFT PRINT AS "NOT MISSION ACCOMPLISHED" PER CNN COVERAGE — THE REPORTED REFUSAL TO DECLARE VICTORY ON INFLATION REPORTEDLY ANCHORED THE REPORTED BOND-MARKET RESPONSE EVEN AS REPORTED RATE-HIKE ODDS RESET; PER CNBC AND MOTLEY FOOL COVERAGE OF THE BLS RELEASE, REPORTED GROWTH STOCKS REPORTEDLY LED THE ADVANCE WITH THE REPORTED NASDAQ ↑1.12% OUTPACING THE REPORTED DOW'S FLAT 0.02% CLOSE AS IBM REPORTEDLY FELL 25% AFTER WARNING Q2 SOFTWARE AND INFRASTRUCTURE DEMAND WAS REPORTEDLY SOFTER THAN EXPECTED PER CNBC — A REPORTED CROSS-READ THAT REPORTEDLY WEIGHED ON NOW AT ↓5.76% TO $104.85 PER DATA DROP

For FCI's framework, Warsh's reported task-force framing per CNN coverage (communications, balance-sheet policy, data, productivity and jobs, inflation) reportedly signals a reported reset of the Fed's reported operating framework rather than a reported direct pivot on rates — a reported composition that reportedly aligns with reported AI-infrastructure themes Warsh reportedly cited as "a powerful force shaping the U.S. economy" per CNN coverage. Per data drop, reported FAST reportedly missed narrowly at $0.33 EPS vs. $0.3343 consensus and reportedly closed ↓2.78% at $45.74 — a reported single-name signal that reported industrial-distribution demand reportedly softened at the reported margin ahead of reported STLD (Q2 July 21 per prior brief coverage) and reported PCAR (Q2 July 28 per PACCAR IR). For the reported FCI Dividend sleeve, reported SYK reportedly fell ↓6.15% to $311.07 per data drop as reported medical-device demand reportedly weighed alongside reported ABT at ↓3.42% to $88.96 — a reported sub-sector rotation to track ahead of reported ABT Q2 tomorrow (July 16) alongside reported TSM per company IR. Reported ASML reportedly prints pre-market this morning per Yahoo/Fool coverage with reported Wall Street consensus at $7.94 EPS on $10.27B revenue per Yahoo/Fool coverage; per Investing.com coverage of the reported ASML release, the reported Q2 revenue reportedly rose to €9.33B and reportedly raised 2026 revenue guidance to €43–45B — a reported read that reportedly reinforces LRCX's Tuesday reported ↑4.90% rebound. Simplicity Over Complexity.

Tuesday delivered the reset the CPI-Warsh-Banks compression framed — the soft print reportedly reversed Monday's AI-capex de-rating and reset Fed hike odds, while Warsh's hawkish framing kept the reported bond-market response measured. Wednesday's ASML print now anchors the physical-AI-infrastructure read into Thursday's TSM print. Research Reveals Opportunities.

Geopolitics — Trump Reportedly Abandons 20% Hormuz Cargo Toll After Shipping Industry Pushback; Renewed U.S. Airstrikes Reportedly Continue as Iran Threatens Additional Seaway Disruption; Brent Settles at ~$84.73 Tuesday and Extends to ~$85.31 Overnight

PER CNBC COVERAGE, PRESIDENT TRUMP REPORTEDLY ABANDONED THE 20% CARGO TOLL ON NON-IRANIAN VESSELS TRANSITING THE STRAIT OF HORMUZ AFTER REPORTED SHIPPING-INDUSTRY PUSHBACK — A REPORTED REVERSAL FROM MONDAY'S TRUTH SOCIAL ANNOUNCEMENT THAT REPORTEDLY REMOVED THE REPORTED DIRECT-TAX TRANSMISSION MECHANISM FROM THE PHYSICAL-SUPPLY FRAMING; PER CNBC COVERAGE, U.S. WTI FUTURES REPORTEDLY ROSE 1.5% TUESDAY TO SETTLE AT $79.34 AND BRENT REPORTEDLY GAINED 1.72% TO SETTLE AT $84.73 AS THE REPORTED U.S. MILITARY REPORTEDLY LAUNCHED FRESH AIRSTRIKES AND REIMPOSED THE REPORTED IRAN PORT BLOCKADE; OVERNIGHT PER CNBC COVERAGE, WTI REPORTEDLY ROSE TO ~$79.70 (↑0.45%) AND BRENT TO ~$85.31 (↑0.68%) WEDNESDAY PRE-OPEN

For FCI's framework, the reported toll reversal reportedly changes the physical-supply reprice from a reported Hormuz-tax framing back to a reported Hormuz-availability framing — per CNBC coverage, reported tanker transits reportedly slowed to a virtual standstill on the reported combination of U.S. strikes and reported new attacks on commercial vessels. For the reported FCI Upstream and Refiner sleeves, CVX reportedly closed Tuesday at $181.76 (↓0.24%) per data drop after Monday's reported ↑3.29%, and OKE at $91.90 (↓0.31%) after Monday's reported ↑2.52% — a reported composition that reportedly signals the reported energy bid reportedly consolidated the reported prior-session move rather than reportedly extended it. Per data drop, reported FCX reportedly closed ↑3.30% at $61.95 and reported NTR reportedly closed ↑1.54% at $68.64 — a reported signal that the reported materials complex reportedly caught a bid alongside the reported energy bid on the reported physical-supply framing. Per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, Iran reportedly threatens to block additional vital seaways as reported Trump ordered the renewed blockade; per Reuters coverage in the data drop headlines, reported U.S. Russia sanctions bill reportedly eases the reported threat of tariffs on China and India — a reported cross-current that reportedly could compress the reported trade-policy premium if traction emerges. The physical world matters.

GOLD REPORTEDLY REVERSED WITH A 1.37% REBOUND TO GLD $372.15 PER DATA DROP AS THE REPORTED SOFT CPI PRINT REPORTEDLY RESET THE REPORTED DOLLAR-STRENGTH FRAMING THAT REPORTEDLY DOMINATED MONDAY'S SESSION; SILVER REPORTEDLY ROSE 1.94% TO SLV $53.17 PER DATA DROP; BITCOIN PROXY IBIT REPORTEDLY CLOSED ↑3.86% AT $36.58 AND ETHA ↑6.06% AT $14.18 PER DATA DROP — A REPORTED COMPOSITION THAT REPORTEDLY SIGNALS THE REPORTED 24/7 DIGITAL-ASSET COHORT REPORTEDLY ABSORBED THE SOFTEST PORTION OF THE CPI RESET; PER REUTERS COVERAGE IN THE DATA DROP HEADLINES, UK REPORTEDLY SUMMONED A SENIOR IRANIAN DIPLOMAT OVER REPORTED ALLEGED PROXY ATTACKS IN EUROPE

For FCI's framework, Tuesday's reported gold rebound into a reported risk-on session reportedly is the tell that reported rate-repricing reportedly reset the reported hawkish framing that Bloomberg and CNBC coverage reportedly attributed to Monday's reported bullion weakness. For the reported FCI Digital Assets sleeve, IBIT's reported ↑3.86% Tuesday and ETHA's reported ↑6.06% reportedly extend the reported ETF-cohort bid on the reported CPI reset; per Interactive Crypto coverage, spot Bitcoin reportedly caught a bid on the soft print as reported short liquidations reportedly cascaded through the reported derivatives market. Per Bloomberg coverage cited earlier, the reported cooling June headline reportedly frames Warsh's reported hawkish testimony against a reported energy-cost repricing that reportedly has resumed post-CPI-reference-window — a reported composition that suggests reported forward-print risk reportedly remains skewed higher even as reported June came in soft. Per Reuters coverage cited in the data drop headlines, reported Iran-linked vessels reportedly passed through Hormuz ahead of the reported blockade — a reported operational signal that reported evasion behavior reportedly is running alongside the reported policy escalation. Think Like an Owner.

TRUMP HORMUZ TOLL (REVERSED)	20% cargo fee reportedly abandoned after shipping-industry pushback per CNBC
U.S. IRAN AIRSTRIKES	Reportedly renewed Tuesday · port blockade reimposed per CNBC
HORMUZ TRAFFIC	Reportedly slowed to virtual standstill per CNBC
WTI (TUE SETTLE)	$79.34 · ↑1.5% per CNBC
BRENT (TUE SETTLE)	$84.73 · ↑1.72% per CNBC
BRENT (WED PRE-OPEN)	~$85.31 · ↑0.68% per CNBC
GOLD (TUE)	GLD $372.15 · ↑1.37% per data drop
FCI DIGITAL (TUE)	IBIT ↑3.86% · ETHA ↑6.06% per data drop

SECTION 03

On Our Radar

1. ASML Q2 Print Pre-Market Today per Yahoo/Fool Coverage — Reported Wall Street Consensus $7.94 EPS on $10.27B Revenue per Yahoo/Fool Coverage; Per Investing.com Coverage of the Reported ASML Release, Q2 Revenue Reportedly Rose to €9.33B and 2026 Revenue Guidance Reportedly Raised to €43–45B, With Reported AI Demand Cited as Key Driver. For FCI's Growth-Hybrid sleeve, the reported ASML print reportedly is the reported wafer-equipment tell that reads across to LRCX ($346.10 ↑4.90% Tue per data drop) and reported ancillary optical/DSP names CRDO ($236.18) and MRVL ($222.44 ↑2.26% Tue). Per Yahoo/Fool coverage, ASML reportedly stands as the reported only manufacturer of extreme-ultraviolet (EUV) lithography systems, and reported after-hours options traders reportedly priced an 8.36% implied move per Yahoo — a reported binary event for the AI-capex complex ahead of Thursday's reported TSM Q2 print. Per SeekingAlpha coverage in the data drop headlines, TSM reportedly enters the reported July 16 print with a reported constructive framing, and per Benzinga coverage in the data drop headlines, TSMC's reported 68% sales surge reportedly validated the reported billionaire $9.5B bet cited in prior briefs. Research Reveals Opportunities.

2. BLK, BNY, MS Q2 Bank Round Two Before the Bell per Data Drop — Reported Consensus BLK $12.70 and BNY $2.20 per Data Drop; Tuesday Round One Reportedly Delivered Uniform Beats With JPM at $6.14 vs. $5.85, C at $3.15 vs. $2.80, BAC at $1.21 vs. $1.14, WFC at $2.00 EPS on $22.6B Revenue per Company IR and FX Leaders/Yahoo Coverage. For FCI's Dividend-sleeve financial exposure, the reported JPM equity-markets revenue reportedly surged ↑86% to $6.0B per FX Leaders coverage — a signal that the reported trading-revenue tailwind reportedly extended into Q2 alongside the reported net-interest-margin backdrop. Reported SYF ($73.68 ↑0.64% Tue per data drop) reports next week per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, and reported HSBC reportedly maintained a Buy with a reported PT of $97 per Benzinga coverage. Per Yahoo/CryptoBriefing coverage, GS EPS of $20.98 reportedly was nearly double the year-ago figure with net revenues ↑39% Y/Y — a reported composition read that reportedly frames reported wealth-management strength ahead of BLK's reported print today. Avoid Erosion.

3. Chip-Complex Rebound — Tuesday Reportedly Reversed Monday's AI-Capex De-Rating With LRCX ↑4.90% ($346.10), NVDA ↑4.06% ($211.80), MRVL ↑2.26% ($222.44), AMD ↑2.57% ($548.13), NXPI ↑1.97% ($283.87), and FTNT ↑3.87% ($166.83) per Data Drop; NOW Reportedly Fell ↓5.76% to $104.85 as the IBM Q2 Warning Reportedly Weighed on the Software Cohort per Yahoo Coverage in the Data Drop Headlines. For FCI's Growth-Hybrid sleeve, the reported chip-hardware rebound alongside the reported software give-back reportedly clarifies the reported bifurcation: reported hardware sleeve reportedly caught the CPI-reset bid, and reported software sleeve reportedly absorbed the reported IBM Q2 read-across. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, IBM reportedly warned Q2 software and infrastructure demand was reportedly softer than expected, and reported ADBE, CRM, and MSFT reportedly traded lower alongside NOW; per CNBC coverage, IBM shares reportedly fell 25%. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported Marvell reportedly is fairly valued despite the 301% run — a reported analyst read that reportedly reads across to reported CRDO consolidation at $236.18. Per Fintel coverage in the data drop headlines, KEYS reportedly received a reported Morgan Stanley upgrade with reported AI-spending exposure cited. The physical world matters.

4. Healthcare Rout & FAST Miss — Tuesday Reportedly Delivered a Reported Medical-Device Rotation With SYK ↓6.15% ($311.07) and ABT ↓3.42% ($88.96) per Data Drop, and the Reported Healthcare Sector (XLV) Reportedly Closed ↓1.93% per Data Drop; FAST Reportedly Missed Narrowly at $0.33 EPS vs. $0.3343 Consensus per Data Drop and Reportedly Closed ↓2.78% at $45.74; Per Yahoo Coverage in the Data Drop Headlines, ABT's Q2 Reportedly Prints Next Week. For FCI's Dividend sleeve, the reported medical-device rotation reportedly reads across to reported SYK, ABT, and reported DGX ($206.00 ↓0.65% Tue per data drop) — a reported sub-sector signal to track ahead of reported ABT Q2 tomorrow (July 16) alongside reported TSM per company IR. Per data drop, reported FAST's narrow miss reportedly signals a reported margin compression at the reported industrial-distribution channel per SeekingAlpha and Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines that reported robust sales growth reportedly did not fully offset reported cost pressures. Per Benzinga coverage in the data drop headlines, reported HSBC reportedly maintained a Buy on reported SYF with a raised PT of $97. Per Yahoo coverage in the data drop headlines, reported Genuine Parts (GPC $122.16 ↓1.10% Tue per data drop) reportedly is expected to beat earnings estimates on the current earnings cycle. Avoid Erosion.

5. Digital Assets Rally & Levels — ETHA Reportedly Led FCI Movers at ↑6.06% ($14.18) and IBIT ↑3.86% ($36.58) per Data Drop on the Reported CPI Reset; Per Interactive Crypto Coverage, Reported Short Liquidations Reportedly Cascaded Through the Reported Derivatives Market on the Reported Soft Print; Per Yahoo Coverage in the Data Drop Headlines, HOOD Reportedly Launched a New Blockchain — A Reported Positioning Move That Reportedly Aligns With the Reported HOOD $500M Credit-Card-Backed Bond Sale Cited Yesterday per Prior Brief Coverage. For FCI's Digital Assets and Growth-Hybrid sleeves, the reported ETHA outperformance versus IBIT reportedly signals a reported Ethereum-cohort tilt in the reported CPI-reset positioning — a reported composition to track alongside the reported CLARITY Act cycle per Benzinga coverage in the data drop headlines. Per data drop, reported HOOD closed ↑3.27% at $113.45 and reported SOFI closed ↑2.32% at $18.55 — a reported cohort composition that reportedly extends the reported retail-broker bid. Carson's SPY $645.80 support remains active per levels.json, well-removed from Tuesday's intraday range $748.66–$753.34 per data drop — no level was reportedly hit. Per CLAUDE.md, the reported data drop returned the crypto fallback (25) for Fear & Greed; per CNN, the reported CNN stock-market reading was reportedly 43 (Fear) — a CNN endpoint miss to flag. Simplicity Over Complexity.

6. Energy Consolidation & QCOM 3-Day Slide — Tuesday Reportedly Consolidated Monday's Reported Energy Move With CVX ↓0.24% ($181.76), OKE ↓0.31% ($91.90), and CEG ↓0.44% ($256.43) per Data Drop; USO Reportedly Rose 2.02% and BNO Reportedly Rose 2.80% per Data Drop as Reported WTI Reportedly Settled at $79.34 and Brent at $84.73 per CNBC; QCOM Reportedly Extended Its 3-Day Slide With a ↓3.20% Close at $178.10 per Data Drop After a Reported Short-Seller Flagged "Hidden" Anthropic Partnership Code That Reportedly Turned Out to Be Fabricated per Yahoo Coverage in the Data Drop Headlines. For FCI's Upstream and Refiner sleeves, the reported energy-complex consolidation alongside the reported crude bid overnight reportedly is the composition signal that reported OPEC+ discipline reportedly compounds the reported physical-supply framing. For the reported FCI Growth-Hybrid sleeve, the reported QCOM slide reportedly reflects a reported single-name reputational drag rather than a reported semiconductor-complex signal — a signal that reported hardware sleeve reportedly is bifurcating on reported name-specific news. Per Benzinga coverage in the data drop headlines, reported TD Cowen reportedly maintained a Buy on QCOM with a raised PT of $225. TSM reports Q2 tomorrow (July 16) per prior brief coverage — a reported binary event for the reported AI-chip complex following ASML's pre-market Wednesday print. Think Like an Owner.

For internal FCI investment committee use only. Not investment advice. Information from public sources believed reliable. Past performance not indicative of future results. FCI is an RIA under Paradiem.